

U.S. TO ASK MATCHING RED WAR CUTBACK

Bomb Halt First Hurdle in Paris Talks

Combined News Services

Full-scale negotiations to settle the Vietnam war will probably take place in Paris if the North Vietnamese and American delegations gathering there next week for preliminary contacts can agree on a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, diplomatic sources said Friday.

This assessment came after Hanoi and Washington said they would begin preliminary talks May 10 or shortly thereafter in Paris, a city where Ho Chi Minh considered himself betrayed by the French in negotiations 22 years ago.

Meanwhile, Pentagon sources said the United States appears unlikely to halt all bombing of North Vietnam at least until U.S. diplomats can determine how seriously Hanoi is willing to bargain in the Paris talks. The sources now refuse to discuss the possibility of further bombing limitations or a total cessation.

Officials expect the first U.S. move in the talks with North Vietnam will be to press for a cutback in Communist military activities in Southeast Asia. They say this would clear the way for a total halt in U.S. bombing of the North.

Working out a halt to the bombing is the main subject of next week's contacts. The sources said they anticipated that the first round would be long and drawn out.

If a formula for a bombing cessation can be reached — North Vietnam demands that the halt be unconditional — the parties will undertake a Southeast Asian peace settlement, the sources said. They indicated the negotiators would remain in Paris for this "long and difficult" second stage.

In announcing U.S. acceptance of the site and timing of the initial talks — President Johnson cautioned the American public against undue optimism.

"This is only the very first step," he told a nationally broadcast news conference at the White House. "There are many, many hazards and difficulties ahead."

"We hope this agreement on initial contact will prove a step forward and can represent a mutual and serious movement by all parties to ward peace in Southeast Asia," he said.

The President said it would not be "useful for public officials to confuse delicate negotiations by detailing personal views or suggestions or elaborating positions in advance."

After insisting for weeks on Warsaw or Phnom Penh, Cambodia, as the locale, North Vietnam broadcast domestically a foreign ministry statement saying it was "of the opinion that formal talks between Hanoi and Washington should be undertaken immediately" and that Paris was as appropriate as the other two capitals.

THE STATEMENT, was promptly picked up by U.S. monitors in the Far East and transmitted to Washington for translation. The President was informed, he said, at 1 a.m. EDT Friday. Johnson said he conferred with Secretaries Dean Rusk of State and Clark M. Clifford of Defense; United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and his successor, George Ball, and his previously designated negotiators with North Vietnam, Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus R. Vance, the President's roving troubleshooter.

Then Johnson said he

ACTION LINE is your service, solving your problems, getting your answers, cutting red tape and standing up for your rights. To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif. 90801, or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Prefer Viet Vets?

Q. I have just got out of the Navy after completing two tours of duty in Vietnam. I applied for a job with the City of Long Beach, scored well in the civil service examination, then learned I wasn't eligible for veteran's preference in seeking the job. But the city Civil Service Board does give preferences to veterans of World War II and Korea. Can anything be done to correct this injustice? L.M., Long Beach.

A. Because of your complaint and ACTION LINE'S inquiry, a move is under way to correct this problem. The Long Beach Civil Service Commission has asked the City Attorney's Office for an opinion on when hostilities officially began involving U.S. troops in Vietnam. Such a date is necessary before the commission can establish a veteran's preference for the Vietnam conflict. The city charter in Section 101 notes that preference should be given veterans who have served during wartime or in an "expedition" (undeclared war), says Deputy City Attorney Robert Austin. "Because the war in Vietnam built up gradually from just some special advisers, I have the problem of determining just when the expedition began," he says. Both Los Angeles County and the U.S. Civil Service Commissions give preferences for Vietnam veterans. The county gives it to men who have served in the Vietnam area since Jan. 1, 1964, and the U.S. from Aug. 5, 1964.

No Grace of Tracing

Q. I teach first grade, and I'd like to create more interest in the sometime bland homework. About 15 years ago I purchased a plastic sheet from which one could trace the figure of a clown but I have since lost it. The toy was called Plot-O, I believe. Can you tell me where to find one now? N. A. K., Seal Beach.

A. After talking to six buyers from local toy stores, ACTION LINE learned that Plot-O the Clown no longer exists. In fact, he's been gone so long that no one remembers the company that made him. However, a buyer for a large toy clearing house in Los Angeles suggests that you might want to look at Trace N Color, a somewhat similar toy made by Westland Products. Trace N Color allows non-artists to draw several kinds of animals, and should suit your purpose.

Welcome Ashore

Q. My wife and I would like to entertain a couple of the crewmen from the Russian ship, Druzhni, when it returns in May. We are both teachers and loyal Americans who are interested in good will among peoples. Can ACTION LINE tell us whom to contact in order to make such an arrangement? R. D. W., Long Beach.

A. A spokesman for the U.S. Immigration Service in San Pedro told ACTION LINE that while shore leave for the crewmen aboard the Russian vessel was not requested when they came through Long Beach the first time, the ship's captain indicated he would file such a request when they return late in May. If they do make such a request, the spokesman said, it will certainly be granted and Long Beach citizens are welcome to extend their hospitality to the crewmen. Grace Line, Inc., 523 W. Sixth St., Los Angeles, is acting as the ship's agent. If you will contact them around the middle of May, they will be able to tell you the exact date of the ship's arrival, where she will be berthed and if the crewmen have been granted shore leave. As for contacting the crewmen, you're on your own. Your best bet would be to visit the ship in person when she arrives.

Dry Up

Q. I'd like some information about drying apricots. The crop will be coming in soon, and I'd like to dry some of the fruit for eating later. Mrs. E. R. N., Bellflower.

A. ACTION LINE went to the pros for this one. Edmund Parsons, public relations official for S & W Fine Foods in Vernon, says even the drying technique isn't complex. The apricots are split in half, pitted, and then spread out in the sun on large metal screens similar to window screens. Each screen holds about 150 pounds of apricots, Parsons says, and the fruit is frequently raked to insure even drying. A sulfur compound is sprinkled on them to help kill germs and stave off flies. After drying, the fruit is sterilized and made ready for packing. Parsons says most of the growing and drying takes place in the San Joaquin Valley. Home methods of drying, which are similar, are available in detail in books at the Bellflower Public Library, 9943 E. Flower St.

THOMAS C. DILBECK
Guilty on All Counts

Dilbeck Convicted of Murder

Long Beach country and western tunesmith Thomas C. Dilbeck was convicted of first-degree murder Friday for a county courthouse shooting spree last January which left his wife dead and three bystanders wounded.

A Los Angeles Superior Court jury also found the 27-year-old defendant guilty of two counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, and one count of assault with a deadly weapon.

The assault counts stemmed from the wounding of his wife's attorney and two of her witnesses in the contested divorce proceeding.

The seven-man, five-woman jury will begin hearing the sanity phase of the case Monday before Superior Court Judge William C. Keene.

THE JURY deliberated a day and a half before reaching its verdict.

Dilbeck, who cried during his arraignment and during his testimony at the trial, heard the jury's verdict without visible emotion.

The lanky, balding defendant turned to Defense Attorney Melvin Belli and said, "I really didn't expect it."

He entered a double plea of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

LBJ Tax Blast Ires Congress

Blackmail Charge Perils Passage of Surcharge Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was jolted and its Republican members angered by President Johnson's stern lecture to Congress Friday about the necessity for a tax increase.

"The President at his news conference has killed the chances for a tax bill," said Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., who carries more weight on tax matters than any other Republican in the House.

Byrnes, who was in Green Bay, Wis., added in a statement issued through his office that Johnson "has killed the opportunity to make a start on putting our fiscal house in order."

At his news conference the exasperated President tongue-lashed Congress for delaying a tax increase he said was second in importance only to the search for peace in Vietnam.

"I want to make it perfectly clear to the American people that I think we are courting danger by this continued procrastination," Johnson said.

IN THE toughest language aimed at Congress by a president since Harry Truman's day, Johnson accused lawmakers of legislative "blackmail" in the nine month fight over his proposed 10 per cent surtax. He belittled his former Capitol Hill colleagues' ability to make deep, meaningful budget cuts and taunted them to "stand up like men and answer the roll call."

One key Democratic congressman who refused to be identified said that the President may have concluded that his tax bill was about to go down the drain and spoke out critically to appeal to the American people in a last effort to save it.

Although most Democrats were far less critical of Johnson's tongue-lashing of Congress than were Republicans, they too were taken by surprise by the strong language he chose. They said they disliked words like "blackmail," "bit the bullet," "stand up

ALLIES SMASH BIG ASSAULT, KILL 856

SAIGON, Saturday (UPI) — U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops hurled back a North Vietnamese division making one of the biggest attacks of the war and killed 856 Communists near Dong Ha, military spokesmen said today.

The assault on the U.S. Marines base at Dong Ha in South Vietnam's northernmost province was the first time in the Vietnam war that the Communists had massed a full division of troops for a single strike.

The battle for the major supply base just south of the demilitarized zone was launched Tuesday by an estimated 8,000 North Vietnamese troops who swept southward from the buffer strip.

"They definitely were trying to overrun Dong Ha and we've stopped them cold," spokesmen said. (Earlier story in The World Today, Page A-2).

Falls Like Fireball in Texas

CORSICANA, Tex. (UPI) — A Braniff International Electra airliner flying through blinding rain and lightning crashed in a ball of flame Friday in a pasture in central Texas. All 84 persons aboard were killed.

A witness said the four-engine turboprop Electra, a later version of the trouble-plagued Lockheed aircraft which was grounded for a while in the early 1960s, blew up in a "red flash" before it hit the ground.

The FBI said in Washington, however, there was no reason to suspect foul play.

It was the first major U.S. airline crash in 1968 and the first serious one since Nov. 29, 1967, when a Trans World Airlines Convair jetliner bound from Los Angeles to Boston fell short of the runway at greater Cincinnati airport and killed 69 persons.

BRANIFF said the plane left Houston at 2:11 p.m. (PDT) on a flight to Dallas. It was scheduled to go on to Tulsa, Okla., and Memphis. Braniff officials said the plane sent a routine message after leaving Houston. The crash occurred some time between 2:30 p.m. and 2:41 p.m. (PDT).

Cloyce Floyd, postmaster of the little town of Dawson, Tex., about a mile away from the crash scene, said he was driving along in a driving rain and saw a "red flash."

"I looked over to the left and I could see this red ball of fire hanging back there about the size of the sun," he said. "From the glare of the fire I could see the fuselage sort of fishtailing"

Three Heart-Transplant Patients Fight for Life

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three middle-aged men, two in the United States and one in London, fought to survive Friday night after heart transplants—the second, third and fourth in a week. All three were reported doing well.

Transplants were performed Friday in Houston, Tex., and London, following by less than 24 hours a transplant operation at Stanford. A heart transplant was performed in Paris last Saturday, but the patient died Tuesday.

In Houston, doctors said that Everett Claire Thomas, 47, an accountant from Phoenix, Ariz., was "doing fine" after receiving the heart of Mrs. Charles L. Martin III, 15, who died of a gunshot wound to the brain. Surgeons said Thomas was awake three hours after the operation and that he had shown no sign of rejecting the new heart.

DOCTORS IN London did not identify the recipient of the heart in Britain's first transplant operation except to say the patient was a man of 45. Newspapers identified the donor as Patrick Ryan, 26, a building worker who was killed in an accident. The doctors said the patient's condition was "entirely satisfactory."

The third patient, Joseph Rizer, 40, a carpenter, was reported in fair condition at Stanford, after Thursday's transplant, but doctors warned he still faces a critical period. They said the transplanted heart — taken from Rudy F. Anderson, 45, of San Carlos, who died of a brain hemorrhage — was beating normally and that Rizer's blood pressure was normal. The transplant was the second such operation at the Stanford University Medical Center.

The Houston operation, performed at the Baylor University College of Medicine, was different from other transplants in that it was performed without massive blood transfusions. The surgical team, headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley, performed the operation in three hours.

THE LONDON transplant team was headed by Dr. Donald Ross, of South Africa, a former colleague of Dr. Christian Barnard, who performed the world's first heart transplant. The donor was rushed across London in an ambulance to King's Hospital where the transplant was performed. The London operation was the world's 10th heart transplant.

3 Battles Rage Near Saigon

SAIGON — Allied troops, battling Viet Cong forces on three sides of Saigon, reported killing 194 Communist soldiers in a day-long engagement 28 miles southwest of the capital. Heavy fighting erupted on three sides of the capital following the first Viet Cong terrorist raid inside Saigon in months. U.S. warplanes flew close support for South Vietnamese army.

LBJ Warns of 'Dangers' Involved in Poor March

WASHINGTON — President Johnson said Friday the nation's capital was making intensive preparations for the Poor People's March because of the "inherent dangers" in the massing of thousands of demonstrators. Johnson voiced his concern at a news conference when asked about plans by Dr. Martin Luther King's successor to go ahead with the building of a shantytown in the capital. The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy has said the protesters would stay in the shantytown until the government acted on their demands for social reforms.

"Every person participating and every person in the capital should be aware of the possibilities of serious consequences flowing from the assemblage of large numbers," Johnson said. Abernathy has started the first of nine separate caravans marching toward Washington.

In the action southwest of Saigon, South Vietnamese and Popular Forces troops, on a Red alert because of a threatened Communist attack against the capital, met a main force Viet Cong battalion and blocked off its escape routes. While the South Vietnamese and Popular Forces kept the Viet Cong pinned down, U.S. warplanes pounded the Communists with air strikes. Northwest of Saigon, U.S. Infantrymen and government troops closed in on another Communist force of about 200 men and reported killing 39 in a battle that raged throughout the night. In still another, clash northeast of Saigon, American GIs reported killing 20 Viet Cong.

11 Germans Convicted of Massacre

MUENSTER, Germany — Three former Nazi policemen were sentenced to life and eight others to lesser terms at hard labor at the close of the longest war crimes trial in history. The so-called "Stanislav trial," in which 15 defendants were charged with helping to massacre 120,000 Jews and Poles near Stanislav in now Russian Galicia, opened April 18, 1966. Hans Krueger, 58, Heinrich Schott, 67, and Ernest Varchim, 60, drew life terms for their role in the "simple butchering" of at least 30,000 persons.

MOSCOW — Moscow television presented an interview Friday night with six persons it identified as deserters from U.S. forces in Vietnam. The six said they deserted to protest what they called American "aggression." The six were identified as Joseph Metz, no home town available; Edwin Arnett of Bradford, Pa.; Al Goren of St. Paul, Minn.; Terry Whitmore of Memphis, Tenn.; Philip Callicott of Mansfield, Ohio, and Kenneth Griggs of Boise, Idaho.

LBJ Promises Pueblo Probe, If ...

WASHINGTON — President Johnson said Friday if evidence ultimately shows that the USS Pueblo violated North Korean waters before it was seized, the U.S. would "take appropriate action." But he said that before any investigation could be carried out, the North Koreans would have to release the 82 crewmen still held prisoner.

Israeli's Report 17 Arabs Slain

JERUSALEM — The Israeli command Friday reported 17 Arab guerrillas killed in repulsing forays that coincided with the military parade through Jerusalem marking the 20th anniversary of the Jewish state. New gunfire shattered the truce Friday afternoon. A Jerusalem communique said the fighting Thursday cost one Israeli killed and three wounded.

Gold Prices Drop on 'Free' Markets

LONDON — The price of gold fell on the "free" markets in both London and Zurich, Switzerland, Friday after Washington and Hanoi announced agreement to hold preliminary Vietnam war talks in Paris. Gold nosedived in London from the morning's record high price of $39.60 an ounce to $38.90. This steep plunge spurred strong buying which swiftly adjusted the price to $39.10.

In Zurich the gold market opened at $39.50 to $39.75 an ounce but closed at $39.37. Turnover was normal. Dealers said the gold price dropped because peace in Vietnam would cut American war expenditures and thus ease the drain on U.S. gold reserves and help solve the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit.

Las Vegas Hotel officials dropped charges against Harvey Pepper, who ran up a $173 bill while posing as Dustin Hoffman, star of "The Graduate."

"It fell on me, but it wasn't premeditated at all," said Pepper, 19, of Los Angeles, as he walked out of the Clark County jail.

The Columbia University student said he walked into the Sahara Hotel and "within 15 minutes I was asked 10 times if I was Hoffman." He was hounded by autograph seekers and the hotel gave him the red carpet treatment.

Finally someone found out that Hoffman, 30, was in New York, and Pepper was charged with defrauding an innkeeper. Later Sahara officials released Pepper. He remains responsible for the bill.

MANHUNT

A month after a sniper killed Martin Luther King, the FBI was "still looking hard" Friday for the man it says did it—an ex-convict who spent nearly a year establishing a false identity.

There were no indications of any imminent break in the search for James Earl Ray, alias Eric Starvo Galt, although the manhunt for him had focused at times around the world.

$29 Million Pay Hike Urged for County Work

By JIM McCAULEY
From Our L.A. Bureau

A pay increase of 5.5 per cent was recommended Friday for the majority of the county's 50,000 employees—with raises ranging from 2.75 per cent to 16.5 per cent for others.

The report, submitted by County Personnel Director Gordon T. Nesvig, also called for upgrading the minimum county salary so that the lowest pay for most employees would be $406 a month after six months of probationary service.

The absolute minimum for starting employees would be $385—a $50 increase.

Nesvig said the $29-million wage increase—fringe benefit package would cost the county general fund $18.6 million.

HE SAID the size of the recommendation is due to the fact private wages in the past year "have gone up considerably"—5.7 per cent.

The county charter requires the county to match prevailing wages. The 5.5-per-cent increase—if approved by supervisors—would go into effect July 1 for 35,870 employees. Nesvig proposed an 8.25 per cent boost for 11,865 others, including engineers, architects, librarians, custodians, elevator operators, laundry workers, public health nurses, garage attendants and clerks.

An 11 per cent raise was urged for 1,265 employees, among them, physicians, dentists, ambulance drivers and museum curators.

A small group of 82 workers, mostly ambulance attendants, would be in line for a 16.5 per cent increase. Another group of 992 employees were tabbed for a 2.75 per cent increase.

MEANWHILE, a report from the Citizens Economy and Efficiency Committee rejected a consultant's suggestion to offer a merit plan for top county executives.

For executives, it recommended a salary benefit package that will cost the county $341,105 a year. That would amount to an increase for each executive averaging 5.4 per cent annually over a two-year period. Executives did not get a salary increase last year.

Top pay of $38,520 a year would go to Chief Administrative Officer Linton S. Hollinger. That would be a $3,520 a year increase—though it is considerably less than the possible $46,476 salary top that had been recommended in the merit plan proposed by the consultant.

Meanwhile, County Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli served notice Nesvig's recommended raises are the highest employees are likely to receive.

"Unless upcoming salary hearings produced concrete evidence to the contrary, granting pay raises above and beyond that which is mandatory would only add insult to injury to our overburdened taxpayers," he said.

The unveiling of the pay-raise proposal didn't head off a previously scheduled demonstration by the AFL-CIO County Probation Officers Union.

Thirty-six sign-carrying pickets paraded in front of the entrance to the County Hall of Administration. They are protesting "skyrocketing caseloads, sixth-rate salaries and lowering of standards . . .," said a union spokesman. He charged that current caseloads now have reached 250 adults and 90 juveniles—more than the county's yardsticks.

No violence erupted as a train moved onto Borax property at 300 Falcon Ave. Friday night while the police guard was posted. The train had been stopped Thursday by strikers.

Despite tension at U.S. Borax Co. operations in Wilmington and the desert community of Boron, no violence was reported at either place as a Borax train finally reached its destination on the Wilmington waterfront Friday night.

Police arrested two men at the Wilmington confrontation. Both were pickets and both were booked on charges of being drunk. The pair was part of a group of 10 who sat on tracks in an attempt to block the train. They failed to clear the tracks when police ordered them to. Twenty officers remained at the scene overnight, with back-up squads ready if needed.

MEANWHILE, negotiations remained at a standstill in the strike which started early Wednesday. Three hundred longshoremen struck the Borax plant at Wilmington and another 550 Borax employees walked out at Boron in Kern County.

The train of one diner, one sleeper and one car of supplies moved through pickets at Wilmington under the watchful eyes of 100 police. In the north, a beefed-up detail of Kern County sheriff's deputies—20 compared to the usual three—kept an equally watchful eye on the Borax plant and the community.

While no violence was reported, several incidents occurred. Friday, power at the Boron plant was disrupted for about an hour and a half after a line was cut, a company official said. Late Thursday, power had been disrupted at Wilmington.

At Boron, about 140 supervisory personnel have moved into the plant to keep it running. The company was successful in obtaining an injunction to limit picketing and late Friday only three pickets were posted at each of the plant's gates.

Apology May Get Orange County D.A. Off the Hook

By BOB GEIVET

Superior Court Judge Raymond Thompson refused Friday to quash contempt of court charges brought against Orange County District Attorney Cecil Hicks and two of his aides, but hinted "a sincere apology" to Anaheim Municipal Judge Lloyd Verry could get them out of trouble.

If they do not apologize and settle the citation, they must appear May 9 before Judge Verry to explain why they disobeyed his order not to give the Grand Jury evidence in Robert E. Lee's attempted murder case then pending in Anaheim.

Hicks said he hasn't decided whether he will apologize to Judge Verry. He said he wants to study the transcript of Judge Thompson's "remarks" before "determining my course of action."

JUDGE VERRY cited Hicks, Deputy District Attorney M. R. Capizzi and investigator Frank Oxandahore for alleged contempt after they obtained a search warrant from Santa Ana Superior Judge William C. Speirs to seize three pairs of Lee's shoes.

One pair, reportedly bloodstained and matted with hair, was tentatively identified as the weapon used in the beating of Mrs. Marie Suir, 42, of La Habra, March 9.

The shoes had been given to Anaheim Judge Logan Moore by Deputy Public Defenders Bernard November and Lawrence Buckley, who were defending Lee.

They said the shoes had been recovered by their investigator, John (James) Bond, and they raised the question of "confidential attorney-client relationship."

Hicks scoffed at this, holding that confidentiality does not apply to evidence, only to conversation.

When it developed a subdivision known as Tustin Meadows a year ago, it offered fee-simple land titles. None of that is lease, however.

Mason said the "acceptance" of Tustin Meadows prompted the company to offer future home-buyers the option or purchasing or leasing.

A CHECKUP SUGGESTED

Mrs. Virginia Vigil, the 36-year-old housewife who tried to cash a $96 billion check in a Long Beach bank, will not be prosecuted for forgery, the district attorney and federal officials said.

Instead, they'll recommend that Mrs. Vigil, a petite mother of four, be given psychiatric examinations.

Dilbeck was captured immediately after the shootings when two Los Angeles police officers, waiting in a nearby courtroom to testify in another trial, heard the shots and rushed into the corridor.

Dilbeck, of 265 Artesia Blvd., had more than 100 compositions to his credit in his 20-year songwriting career.

He testified during the trial he believed his wife was after his money. In her divorce complaint, in which she charged cruelty, she estimated their community property at $400,000.

Dilbeck had testified he believed his wife was "laughing at him" as they waited in the corridor.

He claimed he planned to "take her with me" if he killed in the burst of gunfire Jan. 16 in a Los Angeles courthouse corridor as she was waiting for their contested divorce trial to resume.

The two counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder resulted in the wounding of Attorney Daniel Sheahan, 34, and Mrs. Dilbeck's friend and divorce witness, Mrs. Mabel Klug, 45.

The assault with a deadly weapon verdict involved another of Mrs. Dilbeck's witnesses, accountant John B. Norberg, 55.

At Friday's morning court session, the jury asked to rehear testimony from Dilbeck and four psychiatrists.

Agreement Hailed Throughout World

sent a message informing Hanoi that the French capital and the date of May 10 suggested by North Vietnam were acceptable.

Thus passed the first phase of a move to the conference table that began March 31, when the President announced he was retiring from political life, ordered a partial halt in the bombing of North Vietnam and appealed anew for Hanoi to start talks. North Vietnam accepted the bid April 3, and for the next

Vietnam not increase its infiltration into the south above "normal levels."

French officials have prepared a list of sites where the U.S. and North Vietnamese delegations can meet. The list is said to contain four sites — one in the capital itself and three in the suburbs.

Informed sources said the places under consideration were the International Conference Center in Paris, the Chateau de Champs in Champs sur Marne, the Grand Trianon at Versailles and the Chateau de la Celle St. Cloud.

Members of Congress said they were pleased that the opening agreement has been reached.

"Excellent, excellent," said Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate's Democratic leader. "The ice jam has been broken and the first and most important step has been taken," he told reporters.

CHAIRMAN J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposed that the President consider appointing Mansfield and U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as delegates to Vietnam talks in Paris.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said in a statement: "I am delighted that initial Vietnam peace talks now can get under way."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said Johnson's

There was no immediate confirmation from other sources on the South Vietnamese statement.

agreement to Paris as the place for U.S.-North Vietnamese talks was "an act of statesmanship."

A wave of relief rolled over most world capitals Friday at the agreement.

PRIME MINISTER Harold Wilson's government led the way with a declaration expressing hope that the Paris exchanges will lead "as soon as possible to a just and honorable peace." Britain and Russia are co-chairman of the 1954 Indochinese peacekeeping machine and would have a role in convening any full-scale peace conference that may emerge from the Paris talks.

The Russians were initially silent. Tass, their official news agency, reported without comment the separate Hanoi and Washington statements announcing agreement to the meeting.

In the Vatican, the agreement was greeted with deep satisfaction by authorities in touch with Pope Paul VI. Only last month the pontiff had lamented delays in getting peace talks going.

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant, talking to reporters, said: "This is the best piece of news I have heard for a long time."

month the two sides spurned each other's suggestions for a site.

Leading administration officials warned privately that the agreement on Paris could be only the first in a series of long, arduous steps toward a negotiated settlement of the war, if that ever comes about. No one was willing to predict the outcome even of the next step in Paris, when the adversaries finally confront each other across a table.

NORTH VIETNAM said it would send Xuan Thuy, a minister without portfolio and veteran career diplomat to Paris, which is the operating base for Mai Van Bo, North Vietnam's chief diplomatic representative in the west.

Paris seemed to fulfill all of Johnson's conditions for a meeting place — mutual diplomatic representation, access to allies for consultations and to the world press corps and neutral atmosphere.

Harriman, Vance and possibly some U.S. military representatives from the Defense department are prepared to fly to Paris at any time, probably shortly before the talks actually begin. Advance personnel were expected to leave soon to make administrative arrangements.

One issue likely to develop as a tough bargaining point is Hanoi's previous demand that the U.S. stop, as part of "all other acts of war," its reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam.

SUCH A move would deprive the U.S. of important intelligence about troop concentrations, supply movements and other Communist military activity. Part of the President's San Antonio formula for a bombing halt is that North

LBJ DEFENDS PEACE TRY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaking where Lincoln sought to tend the wounds of a divisive civil war, President Johnson said Friday night that the search for peace in Vietnam "will be hard and hazardous and trying."

He defended his own performance in that search. He said he had sought peace "in enough places for historians to judge that we were fully credible when we said 'anytime, anywhere.'"

In a buoyant mood, the President spoke at the dedication of the Smithsonian Institution's national collection of fine arts in its new museum—the old, now restored, Patent Office building where Abraham Lincoln delivered his second inaugural address, one of the most famous speeches in American history.

like men and answer the role call" and "phony."

Sen. John Williams, R-Del., who helped steer a mandatory $6-billion spending cut plan through the Senate, said, "No man has ever been in the White House who is a better authority on what the word phony means."

JOHNSON said any cut above $4 billion would be "some phony paper cut."

Williams said the President's proposal to hold cuts to $4 billion was "the most phony recommendation ever sent to Congress and an insult to the intelligence of the taxpayers."

Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., a fellow Finance Committee member, said Johnson's remarks were "most unfortunate and unwise."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., said Johnson "by the totally uncalled for language which he is using is in effect trying to blackmail Congress." He added, "I think the President ought to stand up and be counted himself for a responsible fiscal policy."

The Senate-passed $6-billion spending reduction was tied to Johnson's 10 per cent surtax and attached as a rider to the Housepassed bill extending existing auto and telephone excise taxes.

A House-Senate conference takes up that package on Tuesday, after the House Ways and Means Committee is sounded out by its chairman, Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., on the issue Monday.

MILLS, who had "no comment" on Johnson's remarks, has been considered the foremost obstacle blocking approval of the surtax idea, advanced as legislation last August.

House appropriations chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., agreed with Johnson that cuts higher than $4 billion would be "very difficult" to achieve.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate Democratic leader, defended the Senate role for approving a spending cut plan as living up to its responsibility, adding that body "did bite the bullet."

Johnson in his lecture, said that except for the peace effort, nothing "needs to be done more" than passage of a tax bill "without any 'ands,' 'buts' or 'ors.'" He said if Congress wanted to cut the budget too, it should do so, "but don't hold up a tax bill until you can blackmail someone into getting your own personal viewpoint over on reductions."

"I think the time has come for all of the members of Congress to be re-

LBJ DUCKS ENDORSING CANDIDATE

United Press International President Johnson, keeping a secret well, ducked every opportunity Friday to tell his fellow Democrats who he would like to see nominated to succeed him.

At the same time, the President made it clear at his news conference that he may decide to sit the election out if he doesn't approve of the party's decision.

"Could you tell us whether you plan to campaign on behalf of the Democratic candidate, no matter who he may be?" he was asked. "I would not want to go into that matter at this time," he replied. "I will be glad to visit with you about it after the convention when we see what the situation is."

down. Then it hit and exploded."

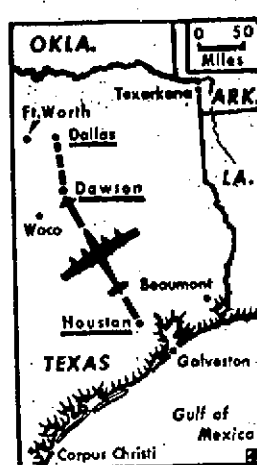

Rex Owen, a fireman from Mexia, Tex., was among nearly 100 volunteer rescue workers who went to the scene.

"It (the wreckage) was scattered all over the place," he said. "There were clothes in the trees. It was drizzling. You could find the bodies or pieces of them almost everywhere you looked. There were briefcases and luggage all over."

RESCUE vehicles clogged the muddy roads carrying bodies back to morgues. Dawson Mayor Charles Renfro told curiosity seekers to stay away. He said they were making "a general nuisance" of themselves.

Braniff identified the five crewmen as Capt. J. R. Phillips, First Officer Jack Foster, Second Officer D. W. Crossland, and stewardesses Jo Carol Brand and Suzanne Renz.

The crash site, near a farmhouse about 24 miles south of Corsicana and about half a mile south of Texas farm road 709, was lit with emergency power as workers toiled through the night in a wet drizzle trying to remove all the bodies.

The wreckage was still smoldering hours later. The fuselage was a jumble of torn and tangled metal. The scorched trees around it were hung with metal and fabric.

Ambulances from six surrounding towns carried bodies wrapped in plastic, sheets, and blankets back to a morgue in the Dawson High School gymnasium and laid them in 10 neat rows on the wooden floor. Frightened townspeople at the little community of 500 persons, many of whom had donated sheets, blankets and pillowcases to wrap the dead watched as the line of ambulances came in. "Oh, Lord, here they come with more," a weeping woman said.

Moist clouds — termed a deep marine layer by forecasters — will hang heavy over the Southland through the weekend and produce thundershower activity in nearby mountains and deserts.

The outlook is better in Long Beach and other coastal areas than inland, according to the Weather Bureau, with predictions of afternoon sunshine and low 70 temperatures along the seashore.

In addition to threatened afternoon-evening thundershower activity, gusty winds are predicted at times in mountains and deserts.

KUCHEL DENIES BID FOR VP CANDIDACY

By BILL STALL

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel refused to speculate Friday whether he would accept an offer—should one be made—to be the vice presidential candidate on the 1968 Republican ticket.

Kuchel said he was flattered by the suggestion by Oregon Gov. Tom McCall that Kuchel be a running mate with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, should Rockefeller win the presidential nomination.

BUT HE said "my only ambition" is to win reelection to the Senate, where he is the assistant Republican leader. "I'm an active candidate for the U.S. Senate—period."

Kuchel said "that's too speculative" when asked if he would accept a vice presidential offer.

"I would not be able to anticipate such a chain of events," he told reporters following a Senate subcommittee hearing.

Later, Kuchel and Sen. Frank Moss of Utah had a private lunch with Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, former aide to Richard M. Nixon and now a member of Gov. Reagan's favorite-son presidential delegation.

KUCHEL AGAIN defended his Senate record against the criticism of his June 4 GOP primary opponent, Max Rafferty, who compared it Friday with that of Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. "I think my Republican record is an effective one," Kuchel said. "The record is clear, gentlemen."

SEN. THOMAS KUCHEL
Just Seeks Senate Seat

He said the statistics Rafferty used did not accurately reflect the meaning of his voting record. Rafferty said Kuchel voted with the Johnson administration 61 per cent of the time.

Kuchel cited as an example his support of GOP Sen. Everett Dirksen's amendment to the civil rights bill. "I suppose someone could contend that they represented an administration bill," Kuchel said. But he added that a majority of Republicans voted for the controversial measure.

On another topic, Kuchel forecast that his bill to limit federal water claims would be passed by Congress "in the not too distant future."

DRAWS SLIM CROWDS ON NORTHERN SWING

Rafferty Scatterguns Kuchel, LBJ, Hanoi

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

WEAVERVILLE — Max Rafferty called Friday for caution by Americans in judging whether the Paris peace talks are propaganda moves by either the Communist enemies or the Democratic Administration in a presidential year.

Rafferty, bidding in the Republican primary for Thomas Kuchel's seat in the U.S. Senate, throughout a two-day Northern California prop-stop tour doubted the choice of Paris as a site which qualified as neutral.

The candidate hit his GOP primary opponent on many scores but especially for "not caring enough" to visit the 11 communities Rafferty is visiting.

DR. RAFFERTY, state superintendent of public instruction, promised an airport audience at Yreka he would never vote to raise taxes unless "heaven forbid, we get into World War III."

He lashed at the U.S. Supreme Court again, saying he would have voted against confirmation for all nine members. "Criminals and everyone else know the court is political," he said.

Police should use "whatever force is necessary" to stop looting, he said and warned of "the rise of vigilanteism" if there is no relief from current disregard for law and order.

U.S. FOREIGN aid should go only to friends and allies, said Rafferty, numbering in that group Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, and South Korea, adding "they are men — our kind of people."

He called Kuchel a rubber stamp masquerading as a Republican and said the senator hasn't been in the Republican main stream for the last four to five years.

Rafferty charged the Johnson Administration "is attempting to abolish neighborhood schools" in favor of so-called education parks, "skyscraper anti-hills" which would have to be reached by bus across "roaring freeways and crowded slums." At one stop on this hectic "blurtour," Rafferty's rote phrase slipped and he said "across roaring slums."

Rafferty addressed 200 at a Thursday dinner in Eureka, but his prop-stop audiences have ranged from 8 to 50 persons. There were 28 at Yreka and 21 at Alturas — sometimes smaller numbers than the staff and press contingent with the candidate in a five-plane air caravan. But Rafferty said he views the Northern California stops as a symbol of his care and concern for all Californians.

"IT'S NO more important to go to the heart of Los Angeles than to Alturas," he told that town's boosters. He told them his opponent is "indistinguishable from a Democrat and a left-wing Democrat at that."

Before about 80 at the Redding Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Rafferty cited symptoms of our "almost stricken society — a wheezy commonwealth" which if not corrected can survive only a generation or two at most. Boredom, apathy and buck-passing add up to the cult of non-involvement, the "sick Sixties syndrome," he said.

What would we do with more leisure time? he asked. You can only watch so much TV and "there's a limit to the amount of sex we can engage in without burning out our whole civilization."

Rafferty suggested "raising a little hell" in combating pornography and in insisting on retribution for wrong-doing.

COMMENDING his own Senate candidacy, Rafferty said if another candidate is for the criminal, rather than the criminal's victim, "fine," let the criminals vote for him.

Answering a question, Rafferty said he won't even promise he could do better than Kuchel, but said he would work to end the war in Vietnam and work against the present caliber of Supreme Court justices.

The candidate told a Redding news conference that problems of student unrest should be met with clear-cut written policies for scholarly conduct. He said this has not been done by California Regents or state college trustees.

SIMILARLY, Rafferty would urge as a Vietnam course of action the drafting by the President and the Senate of a set of specific, itemized goals for that conflict and then give their accomplishment to military experts. Rafferty closed his two-day tour with Friday talks to groups at Crescent City, Yreka, Alturas, Redding, Grass Valley, and Weaverville. He had covered five towns Thursday.

$5.7-Billion Reagan Budget to Be Delayed in Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate version of Gov. Ronald Reagan's $5.7-billion budget should be ready for passage within two weeks, the upper house Finance Committee chairman predicted Friday, but the Assembly version is behind schedule.

Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, said the budget will be approved by the Finance Committee by the end of next week and be passed by the upper house in "12 to 15 days."

"We can have it out (of committee) without any problems," Miller said.

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, however, said it would be about three weeks before the lower house version of the budget comes out of the Ways and Means Committee which he heads.

The assembly committee has not completed work in its subcommittees on the state's appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Assembly normally approves a budget before the Senate. When the Senate budget bill reaches the Assembly, Crown said the lower house version will be amended into it.

DIFFERENCES between the two fiscal bills will be worked out in a two-house Conference Committee.

Crown estimated the Senate and Assembly will reach agreement on the budget in time for Reagan to sign it before the June 30 deadline.

Theoretically, the budget must be signed before the July 1 beginning of a new fiscal year, but Crown said a stop-gap measure could be put into effect to keep state agencies functioning if the budget isn't ready.

Last year Reagan signed the $5.08 billion 1967-68 budget only hours before the end of the fiscal year.

THE LEGISLATURE — preoccupied with the primary election only a month away — is not expected to pass many other major pieces of legislation.

Before adjourning for the weekend, the Assembly approved a bill prohibiting drug manufacturers from charging pharmacies higher prices than hospitals for drugs sold under the state's medical care program.

Crown, author of the measure, said it would remove from Medi-Cal-approved lists drugs sold to pharmacies at "discriminatory" prices.

He said the state spends about $55 million a year for drugs for Medi-Cal patients. An "overwhelming" amount is purchased from drugstores, he said.

The measure would not prohibit drug companies from selling large quantities of drugs at a discount, provided the discount was available to any Medi-Cal provider which purchased the same amount.

Crown said some pharmaceutical firms had been charging hospitals and doctors less for some drugs than drugstores pay for the same product.

The Assembly sent the bill to the Senate on a 62-2 vote.

Unruh Seeks U.S. Help for Welfare

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh urged Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday to use his influence in petitioning Congress for full federal financing of welfare programs.

Unruh is author of a measure adopted by both Houses of the Legislature asking the federal government to pay the cost of aid as the result of a federal court order which struck down California's residency requirements for welfare applicants.

The added cost next year has been estimated at more than $24 million in California.

Unruh asked Reagan in a letter to use his influence with the other 49 governors "to see if a unified legislative-executive state front can be presented to Congress in our attempt to lift this tremendous tax burden from our taxpayers."

He said he would ask officers of other state legislatures to adopt similar measures for presentation to Congress.

Senate Changes Mind; Campaign Recess Set

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The State Senate, which loftily informed the Assembly two weeks ago that it had no intention of recessing for primary election campaigning, has changed its mind.

It was learned the 40 senators had re-polled themselves and decided to recess May 29 and come back to work June 10. Reportedly, 19 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted in favor of the recess.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh had stated earlier last month that he favored a three-week recess, starting May 24, to give legislators, facing a primary battle a chance to campaign.

The Senate, however, gave notice April 17 it had "unanimously" voted against any recess until the end of the session."

The tone of the Senate statement angered many assemblymen, and the lower house legislators have been needing their upper house colleagues.

Legislative rules prohibit one house from recessing without the approval of the other. An Assembly spokesman indicated that the lower house would concur with the Senate proposal, which is expected to be formally made next week.

Assembly OKs Aid Change to Constitution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment that could clear the way for more generous state aid to local governments was approved 62-0 Friday by the Assembly.

The proposal would allow California's cities and counties to use state general fund money for local projects and programs. The measure faces a battle in the Senate, which rejected a similar plan last year.

If the Senate approves it, the proposal would be put on the ballot later this year.

Tioga Road Opens Today

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — National Park Service officials announced Friday that scenic Tioga Road across the crest of the Sierras here will be opened at 8 a.m. today.

However, they warned motorists should be cautious because of possible wet or icy spots and mud or rocks on the pavement in some areas.

A spokesman said this was one of the earliest opening dates for the road in recent years. Opening was delayed last year until June 17 because of heavy snows.

Writ Right Bill OK'd

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Friday passed a bill by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, which would let marshals as well as sheriffs serve writs of habeas corpus. The measure was sent to the Senate on a 58-2 vote.

It may well be man's most important challenge: to search and probe his intuitions about religion until he discovers that point in his consciousness where spiritual reality breaks through, the divine touches the human, and God transforms the world with His image. PERSIAN LILAC... Dependable Bloomer

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

En route late March for North Edwards in the Mojave Desert, we stopped and visited with Dr. Francis Bourne, "granddaddy" of the annual Palmdale Lilac Show. In Palmdale, he toured us around, showing us some of the deciduous fragrant lilacs that were blooming a little too early for a show. We were impressed with the Persian lilac that was 18 feet wide and easily 10 feet tall, and flowering beautifully, thank you. We saw some double flowered, others singles, all delightfully fragrant.

Many of our readers who come from the East are discouraged growing the Syringa vulgaris, the true lilacs, because they don't bloom. These lilacs are not happy in mild or coastal areas of Southern California. They need more cold winter weather.

GARDENERS in milder areas who have infinite patience and wait some years eventually are rewarded with some flowers but not the large clusters of blossoms. They can, however, help their plants by giving them deep soakings when they water them, scatter bone meal over the soil around the plants, lightly scratch into the soil, then mulch with manure, and feed them a general all-purpose plant food twice throughout the summer.

The Persian lilac, whether the lacy leaf lavender color variety or the larger leaf deeper rose color form, are dependable yearly bloomers in mild sectors and along the coast. The flower clusters are much smaller and have a lighter fragrance.

Lavender Lady is a patented variety, with beautiful lilac color blooms in large clusters, especially developed for California.

SUMMER blooming annuals grow in various sectors of S. California. Zinnias are the most colorful and popular, and are available in flats and pony packs from the small button-type flowers, on up to the dahlia flowered and California Giants measuring as much as five to six inches across. Seed-sown zinnias grow easily, too. They love all the sunshine they can get, grow and do their best in such location. Given good deep soakings of water as they need it, fed twice during their formative growth to maturity, they'll grow almost as fast as crabgrass weeds, and furnish you with lots of showy flowers. Good for cut flower use, too.

Zinnias are unhappy and mildew along the coast if planted close together in a crowded area where circulation of air is minimal. Coast-wise gardener should space them farther apart, in a sunny area where there is ample circulation of air.

ASTER is Latin for star, hence the little-used name of starwort. Aster as a name is confusing to many gardeners who think it implies the garden or China aster which is a popular annual that is cultivated worldwide. This plant doesn't belong to the genus Aster but is Calistephus pronounced (kal-kis'-teffus). However, it's allied to the Aster.

These annuals, normally available at nurseries in flats or pony packs, usually are the American Beauty, Pompon, Giant Crego, Powder Puffs and the singles. The other kinds you may have to seed-sow are Giant Fluffy and Curliclocks.

These annual asters, like the winter stocks, are somewhat tricky to handle when planting. First, they won't tolerate cultivation of the soil around them. The smaller the plants the better chance for them to develop a good root system. Gardener should carefully separate the individual plants with his fingers, but be sure to have clump of soil cling to the roots. Don't cut the plants in the flat or pony pack into squares. They don't like constant dampness of the soil, so plant them where the watering can be controlled. They, too, like sunny areas.

PLANT some African marigolds, and dwarf French Marigolds for needed bright yellow and vivid orange colors. Dwarf marigolds may be planted as edging plants in the front of the sunny flower bed, yet provide lots of color in narrow sunny spaces where there's a need for such dwarf annuals.

The zinnias, asters and African marigolds should be planted in groups, each irregular-shape group ("drift") by itself in order to provide the effective mass colors possible, yet groups connected together to form an attractive planting.

The asters should be the leavening colors that separate the showy zinnias from the bright marigolds.

Questions and Answers

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Q. My lilac bush, which never had special care except occasional watering, bloomed for years. Last two years, the flowers were smaller and fewer. What can I do for it? Is it possible to transplant part of it and will it guarantee blossoms? Mrs. G. Choy.

A. Prune it back to shape. Irrigate it deeply. Several days later scatter five cupfuls of bone meal around the plant, lightly scratch it into the soil. Spread about an inch layer of manure or spread mulch material around plant, soak in slowly. Few days later soak again. Water it well two to three times a month hereafter. Six to eight weeks later after bone meal and manure application, feed it an all purpose plant food, two cupfuls scattered in a two-foot-width circular pathway around the plant, first having watered well several days beforehand. After feeding, soak well, several days later water again. No, do not separate the plant and transplant.

Q. Our evergreen ash tree bears leaves in the spring but most fall off by mid-summer. Leaves have small brown spots on them, some of the branches die. What is wrong? Joe Bennett.

A. Tree isn't getting sufficient deep watering! Water deeply about once every four to six weeks if soil is clay or adobe, even if in a lawn. Water oftener if soil is sandy and porous. Branches dying back is likely due to insufficient deep watering. Brown spots on leaves may be due to alkali, due to light sprinklings, instead of deep watering, such as a tree in lawn getting only lawn sprinkler waterings.

Q. Please tell us what kind of flowers and shrubs grow well in Newhall and Saugus area. Our son and family are moving there this summer. Mrs. Howard McPeal.

A. Shrubs such as wax leaf privet, bottle brush, Chinese photinia, vitex, California holly, abelia grandiflora and Oregon grape; flowers like day lilies, iris, saxifrage (bergenla) in shade, coral bells, pinks, carnations, roses, all should do well there if properly planted and given normal care.

Q. I planted two 2-year-old field-grown rose bushes some time ago. One has buds and is blooming. The other, in a different location, has leaves but no buds. What should I do? Mrs. Florence R. Eule.

A. Tamp soil firmly to see if it is too loose. If so, firm well, add more soil to proper level. Water deeply when watering. If rose is in half shade it is slower to blossom. Also, be patient, some varieties of roses are slower to start to bloom.

Q. Our pomegranate bush, 3½ feet tall, bears small fruit yearly, which turns lovely red color but soon drops off, seems inedible. Can larger fruit rivaling the kind you see in markets be achieved and would it be edible? It hasn't received any special care other than routine spraying and feeding we give our entire garden. Emily Attaway.

A. Yours, Emily, is a decorative pomegranate, grown for ornamental fruit. If garden space accommodates an eight-foot or larger shrub, plant "Wonderful" pomegranate for large bright orange-red carnation-like blossoms followed by large and shiny edible fruit about Thanksgiving time.

Q. We're attempting in vain to get Irish moss to grow

In mid-street parking around Eighth and Ninth streets on Long Beach Boulevard. Our soil is alkaline and adobe, I guess. What suggestion please! D. B.

A. It is a very slow-growing ground cover. Day or so after watering the moss, scatter five sacks of quality lawn-grade steer manure or spread mulch material to each thousand square feet. Don't worry if some of the material elights on the moss squares. Apply a liquid soil rinse that contains liquid sulphur, wetting agent, plus 17 per cent nitrogen, full strength in a quart-size, hose-end, hydraulic fertilizer gun. Not knowing how long the moss has been growing, and for me to be on the safe side of advice, apportion the quart to evenly cover 800 square feet without puddling, then water in well. Continue to keep the ground cover moist. Repeat the liquid soil rinse again six weeks later. Three months later please let us know how it is progressing.

COUNCIL HEARING SET

Retirement Raise Urged

By DON BRACKENBURY

Increased retirement benefits for Long Beach city employees, which would nearly double the monthly income for the typical retired worker, have been recommended to the City Council.

If approved, the added benefits would bring total cost of the city's retirement program in 1968-69 to $4,612,965, an increase of $1,906,489 over the present plan.

Much of the increase is caused by the state requirement that the city pay, on a retroactive basis, the difference between the two plans for both the employer's and employees' contributions.

As these prior and accrued current service costs are paid off, the total cost to the city will gradually drop. After 1988, the annual cost to the city for its general employees will be only $1.6 million, or less than the present program.

Only $3,349,631 of the total cost for 1968-69 will come from the tax levy. City departments such as Harbor, Water and Oil Properties are not supported by the property tax, and retirement benefits for their employees are financed from department revenue.

Long Beach cityworkers would still trail those of the other seven governmental agencies which make up the city's salary survey group.

A Los Angeles County worker, using the same figures of retiring at age 60 with 30 years service and a $600 monthly income, now would get $278.10 in monthly benefits, plus Social Security.

EMPLOYEES of the City of Los Angeles, and four other cities in the salary survey, would get $300 a month in retirement pay, while an Orange County employee in the same circumstances would get $345 monthly.

Recommendations for general city employees were made by an 18-member Select Committee on Retirement, appointed last July by City Manager John R. Mansell at the suggestion of the City Council.

COUNCILMEN referred the recommendations to their finance and salary committee, which will consider them at a hearing Monday, May 13, at 10:30 a.m.

For policemen, firemen and lifeguards, the principal benefit proposed would be a provision that the surviving spouse or minor children of a retired employee would be entitled to one-half the benefit he was receiving prior to his death.

Under the present retirement plan for general city employees, a worker who retires at age 60, with 30 years service, and whose highest three-year monthly salary average was $600 receives $123.68 a month, plus an $86 Social Security benefit.

The same employee, under the proposed new plan,

Architects Put $138,686 Price Tag on Del Amo Park

From Our L.A. Bureau

Long Beach architects Hugh Gibbs and Donald Gibbs have estimated it will cost $138,686 to develop Del Amo Park, 703 E. Del Amo Blvd. in Carson.

The Gibbs firm was retained by Los Angeles County to plan a county park. However, the Carson area since has incorporated.

They proposed a layout that includes a maintenance building, playground equipment areas, softball field, landscaping, basketball courts and sprinkler system.

Linden S. Hollings, county chief administrative officer, referred the Gibbs plans and cost estimates to county supervisors. He recommended they be accepted and be made available to the City of Carson.

Reagan, Warren Join to Open Oroville Dam

OROVILLE (AP) — Political opponents, state leaders and thousands of average Californians will dedicate Oroville Dam today and pay homage to its reason for being—water.

Two former governors had planned to journey to the old gold country to help Gov. Ronald Reagan dedicate the keystone of the multibillion dollar California Water Project, but only one will be there.

He is Earl Warren, now chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, who occupied the California governor's mansion during the early 1950s when visionary engineers submitted the first detailed proposals for the vast project.

EDMUND G. Brown, who in 1959 pushed through the Legislature permission to go ahead with the proposal then successfully barnstormed the state in 1960 urging voter approval of the $1.75 billion water bond to begin the project, won't appear.

Heading the ceremonies will be the man who beat Brown in 1966 and who now has the task of seeing the project through almost to completion — Reagan.

Up to 50,000 visitors were expected by authorities to attend the festivities. Oroville, whose economy has been given a massive boost by the dam, celebrated all week with beauty contests, a golf tournament, sporting contests and so on.

The 24-square-mile reservoir, now about half filled, backing up behind the dam will provide a year-round recreation area.

VISITORS will see the world's biggest earth-filled dam, and the nation's highest dam of any kind at 770 feet, about 40 feet higher than Hoover Dam. "Big Oroville" cost $120 million, and the total cost of all the facilities related to it was $478 million.

Stretching south for 444 miles is the California Aqueduct which is nearing Bakersfield and will eventually drop the northern water in Riverside County's Perris Reservoir in 1972.

IT WAS the thirsty southern voters who in 1960 approved the water bond over northern opposition by 150,000 votes out of five million cast. Only two of the northern counties supported the bond.

Now, almost eight years later, southerners and northerners are coming together to celebrate and marvel at Oroville Dam.

Meanwhile State Water Resources Director William R. Gianelli reported Friday that only 22 per cent of construction contracts for work on the $2.8 billion California Water Project remain to be let.

'Death Calls' Terrorize Families of Marines

CAMP PENDLETON (UPI) — Families of Marines currently serving overseas have been receiving phone calls falsely notifying them that their loved one was killed or wounded, Camp Pendleton authorities said Friday.

Marine officials said communities surrounding this largest of Marine Corps bases have been plagued by numbers of such "phony" calls.

Persons receiving such calls, they said, should know that next of kin are never initially notified of deaths or injuries by telephone or telegram. An assigned "condolence call officer" in uniform always brings the news in a personal visit, they said. The visit is followed by a confirming telegram from the commandant of the Marine Corps.

If the serviceman is injured, added the officials, the serviceman may choose to have the information withheld from his family. This often happens when the wound is noncritical. Officials said families receiving such phone calls should contact the Camp Pendleton base adjutant.

Rumor Control Center Opening

The center will be manned by trained volunteers and its function will be to track down the origin of rumors and to reassure the public about them.

Media 'Whitey's Mouthpieces' to Ghetto

By JIM GOODRICH

Newspapers, at best, are mistrusted in the ghetto. At worst, they are held in contempt.

Those are the conclusions of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

The Kerner commission categorized as typical the statement of a ghetto resident who said:

"The average black person couldn't give less of a damn about what the media say. The intelligent black person is resentful at what he considers to be a totally false

Last in a series

portrayal of what goes on in the ghetto. Most black people see the newspapers as mouthpieces of the 'power structure'.

Added the commission:

"The press has too long basked in a white world looking out of it, if at all, with white men's eyes and a white perspective."

Last year's urban riots, reported the commission, were seen through the eyes of white men unschooled in race relations.

Another observation: News about the riots often was reported without the expert knowledge, calm judgment and sensitivity required to deal with explosive situations.

Not overlooked were the instances where the press had tried to give people a balanced, factual account of the riots.

What the commission ridiculed were the times when the mass media resorted to sensationalism in reporting the social crisis.

"What effect did the mass media have on the riots?" asked President Johnson.

Answered the commissioners: "The overall effect was, we believe, an exaggeration of both mood and event."

An analysis of 3,799 newspaper articles revealed that some periodicals printed "scare" headlines unsupported by mild stories and rumors that had no basis in fact.

Example: A West Coast newspaper headlined an edition, "Rioting in Washington, D.C./Negroes Hurt Bottles, Rocks at Police Near White House." What the story reported, however, was an incident that had occurred a mile away from the White House.

Of 955 television news sequences analyzed, 262 were classified as "emotional."

According to the commission: "Some newsmen staged 'riot' events for the camera."

An example: "A New York newspaper photographer covering the Newark riot repeatedly urged and finally convinced a Negro boy to throw a rock at the camera."

Rumors were reported without verification.

Examples:

—A Detroit radio station broadcast a rumor, based on a telephone tip, that Negro rioters planned to invade suburbia.

—A national wire service reported that a Tampa sheriff, who died of a fatal heart attack, had been killed by rioters.

"Exaggerated impressions about the scope and intensity of the disorders" were noted also when the press reported on property damage, personal injury and deaths.

"At the height of the Detroit riot, some news reports of property damage put the figure in excess of $500 million," the commission's report stated.

Actual damage: $54 million.

Post-riot appraisals show that the 1967 disorders were "less destructive, less widespread and less of a black-white confrontation than most people believed."

Too often, said the commission, the press did not "tell it like it was" — did not report adequately on the causes and consequences of civil disorders, or on the underlying problems of race relations.

Ghetto reaction to the coverage was marked by a feeling of "distrust."

Persons interviewed in the riot cities thought newsmen had relied too much on police for information, and had failed to report the full story.

Not reported by the press, the people said, were instances when Negroes helped law enforcement officers during the disorders, when police made false arrests, when the National Guard resorted to excessive force, when the police were openly guilty of brutality or when white vigil

Marina Revenue Down; Slip Rental Increase Studied

By DON BRACKENBURY

Revenue from Long Beach Marina dropped 13.9 per cent last fiscal year, and consideration should be given to a possible increase in slip rentals, the city auditor's office said Friday.

Total revenue during the 1966-67 fiscal year was $881,900, a decrease of $12,459 from the prior year, according to the annual audit.

The major factor in the reduced revenue was a decrease of $13,663 in concession income, due mainly to a reduction in yacht-sales commissions and the termination of one concession in the Marina Bazaar building, the audit revealed.

City Auditor Murray T. Courson pointed out slip rental rates now being charged were established in December 1961. Since the 1962-63 fiscal year, Courson said, operating and maintenance costs at the Marina have increased 24 per cent.

In addition, a comparative analysis of the rental rates charged by other marinas in the Southern California area, many of which offer less desirable facilities, discloses that the rates charged at Long Beach Marina are significantly lower," Courson said.

The audit report said it would "appear appropriate" that the Marine Department undertake a complete profit and loss analysis to determine the adequacy of current slip rental rates.

The basin mooring fees and permits make up the major part of revenue and amounted to $689,068 in fiscal 1966-67, an increase of $2,554 from the prior year, Courson reported.

REVENUE from launching ramps totaled $69,320, an increase of $871, while concession and lease operations brought in $119,544, a decrease of $13,663.

Courson's office also recommended that ordinances governing the Marina should require that the slip rental permit specify that Long Beach is the permittee's home port.

'LAST CHANCE' CSLB Militants List Grievances

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

A small but militant band of socio-political activists at California State College at Long Beach Friday released a list of grievances they demand be discussed during a campus-wide, so-called "last chance" confrontation Wednesday.

This agenda, prepared by a 13-member ad hoc steering committee with strong ties to the Students for a Democratic Society, was read to about 150 persons attending a noon meeting in the campus Little Theater.

Pressures for next week's proposed meeting quickly built after a confrontation Wednesday between President Carl W. McIntosh and more than 100 students in the theater.

Up to 300 others, denied admission because of space limitations, later marched on the president's office to demand a second meeting.

McINTOSH HAS NOT YET indicated whether he will attend next week's meeting, scheduled to begin at noon in the free-speech area adjoining the bookstore.

Militants, demanding that McIntosh, Academic Vice President Donald Simonsen, Dean George D. Demos and Assistant Dean Jack Shainline participate, also are urging that all classes be dismissed between noon and 3 p.m. so a large body of "noncommitted" students can attend.

They further are asking support and endorsement from the Academic Senate.

Points the group wants publicly debated, with ultimate agreement from the administration, are:

—A showing by May 22 of the Bill Spater sculpture, which McIntosh ruled April 1 would not be exhibited because of its frank sexuality;

—Racially open accommodations in campus dormitories;

—No restrictions on students of the opposite sex visiting in the other's dormitory rooms;

—Equal student representation on all faculty committees;

—Racial minority representation on the Associated Student Senate;

—Stepped-up effort to hire ethnic minority faculty members;

—Extension of the present "free speech" area to make the entire campus "open."

—No disciplinary action against those involved in last Wednesday's protest.

Two Southland GIs Killed

Two Southland GIs were among 58 American servicemen killed in Vietnam combat, according to a report Friday from the Defense Department.

Pfc. Lester L. Moore, father of Miss Lori Moore, 6630 Heliotrope Ave., Bell, and Pfc. Terry L. Tebbetts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen L. Tebbetts, of 5321 Meadowlark Drive, Huntington Beach, were named by the Pentagon as combat casualties.

HOB0 PROWLs THE ROCKS ON HER NEVER-ENDING VENDETTA

KILL THOSE DIRTY RATS!

Hobo Seeks Revenge

By DICK EMERY

You can tell by a deep look into Hobo's eyes that behind her lovely mask of gentleness, the soul of a killer lurks.

Her eyes are yellow with vertical slits for pupils, like exclamation points. Her nose is pink.

"We've never had a better rat-catcher," said Joe Benich, of the lunch stand at the Larson Marina on Terminal Island, for whom the lady cat named Hobo serves as resident rodent eradicator.

"So far, we know for sure she has killed four rats," Benich said. "We saw them. On the side, she kills mice."

Hobo's vendetta began, Benich said, a year and a half ago after rats killed her kittens.

"Someone—we never knew who—had thrown Hobo out, one night, on a woodpile over there, just before her kittens were due."

"She bore the kittens, all right, but one by one they disappeared."

"Rats got them."

"From then on, Hobo has never quit hunting. She hunts all day and she hunts all night."

"The rat she catches has plenty of time to think over all the dirty tricks he's played, before she finally does him in."

"But they'll get her, one night. The pack will get her. That's always the way cats end up around here."

The tortoiseshell colored cat rubbed against Benich's ankle and raised an angelic—for a cat—face.

She smiled—a nice cat smile full of white stilettoes—and meowed a very small, ladylike—for a cat—meow.

"She's hungry," Benich said, thoughtfully.

"Rat hunting is not so good on these dark-of-the-moon nights."

2 Held, 10 Out on Bail After Marijuana Raid

A 20-year-old California State College at Long Beach student and a CSLB test grader remained in custody today following a police raid on a suspected "political pot party" at their Long Beach apartment.

Ten other students of the college, accused of being in a place where marijuana was being used, are free on $1,250 bail each, pending disposition of the misdemeanor charges. Two of the freed suspects are women.

Held without bail on suspicion of cultivation and possession of marijuana for sale, and of maintaining a place where narcotics were used, are Gerald Harris and Michael Lyons, 23, both of 4226 E. Fourth St.

Arresting officers said Harris is a CSLB student and Lyons, now a test grader at the college, is a former Jefferson Junior High School teacher.

Police said arrests resulted from a two-week investigation by Long Beach narcotics officers, who said they found a potted marijuana plant growing just outside the suspects' apartment.

Marijuana seeds and debris were also seized in the raid, officers said.

Car Backing From Drive Kills Child

A 15-month-old girl was crushed to death Friday when she walked behind an auto being backed out of a Long Beach driveway, police said.

The child, staying with relatives at 1033 Alamitos Ave., was dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital following the 5:30 p.m. accident.

Officers identified the victim as Valerie Anderson, whose mother lives in Los Angeles.

James Shepard, 35, of 1130 Hill St., driver of the car, told investigators he did not see the toddler as she walked behind his moving car at 1045 Alamitos Ave. He was not cited.

Stereo Unit Stolen

Burglars forced open a rear door at the home of Edwin Leon Leach, 178 West 67th Way, and removed a stereo and tape deck unit valued at $1,965, Long Beach police reported Friday.

Need for New Institutions Told

By WALT MURRAY

The world is moving much too fast for us to cling to the sanctity of our institutions, a member of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders said Friday in Long Beach.

"All our institutions are candidates for confrontation," Victor H. Palmeiri told 150 University of California extension officials and community leaders in Edgewater Inn Marina Hotel.

"We must open all our institutions to change so they won't be destroyed."

Palmeiri told the group — assembled for a weekend "community seminar" — that "if we can't adjust to change, maybe we are getting what we deserve, and we'll go down the staircase as a nation."

He stressed that violence was a fact of life in American political change, and even has some redemptive qualities, but will create a police state if it continues.

In calling for "new assumptions and new strategies" to bring social change that will curb violence, he stressed that "New Deal methods have run their course."

"The New Deal way was to pour money into federal programs to better the lot of the unfortunate," he said. "But I think it is more important to reshape our institutions to better use that money when we get it."

This reshaping of institutions was the main theme of his speech, titled "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Palmeiri, noting the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders was released two months ago Friday, said "Not long ago we were sure we had the power not only to make a great society, but to make a better world."

"But then, at the precise moment in history when we had forged a bold new commitment to a just society — when we could see the top of the mountain — we had Vietnam and Watts."

"Disruption and violence now have become part of the national scene, and confidence and hope have given way to alienation and doubt," he said.

However, Palmeiri said, civil disobedience, disruption and violence "have always been intimately related to social change in America."

"We've almost always managed to resolve our crises in ways that enhance a free society," he said. "We have accepted change in economic and political structure to achieve peace and stability."

"Today the war and racial strife are the greatest problems we have faced since the Civil War, and they must end soon or we will face a radical reaction, a garrison state."

To meet the crises, "people must be given maximum capacity to control their own lives," he said. "And we must realize that our goals are worth the risks and considerable waste to achieve."

"New institutions are necessary to help people cope with the system," he said. "Things like group legal services to affect the feeling of impotence among individuals."

He also cited new capital from private enterprise, a forum for racial minority groups and the poor to air their problems, police community relations bureaus, sweeping changes in welfare services and a higher minimum wage.

"We must not just dump money into old institutions and systems," he said. "We have frozen ourselves into those systems, which are not only ineffective, but counterproductive."

"The great issue is how to muster our political will to get to our goals," he said.

Sidewalk Sale at Downtown Stores Today

A day-long sidewalk sale will be held by downtown Long Beach merchants today during regular business hours.

"A wide assortment of merchandise offered at bargain prices will be on display on sidewalk tables in front of stores," Warren Harper, chairman of the sale, explained.

Sales clerks will serve shoppers on the sidewalks.

WEIGH-IN FOR AN 'ICEMAN'

Coast Guardsman Norman Farquhar Jr. of Huntington Harbour was greeted by parents and pair of scales Friday as he and other crewmen of icebreaker Burton Island arrived at Berth 23, Port of Long Beach, after seven-month "Operation Deep Freeze" tour in the Antarctic. Weigh-in failed to settle family bet on Norm's present poundage. Vessel was deployed with Task Force 43 and Capt. B. B. Leland reported "exceptionally heavy ice year" tour.

TEXAS PARK SYMBOL OF RACIAL AMITY

A symbol of interracial friendship will be created Sunday when a park is dedicated in Pecos, Tex., in memory of the mother of a Long Beach real estate man.

Mrs. W. W. Dean of Pecos, a Caucasian, donated the park to the city, asking that it be named for Mrs. Bessie Haynes, a Negro. The two women were friends and well known in Pecos. Charles Haynes, son of the late Mrs. Haynes, will take part in the dedication ceremonies.

Mass Media Mistrusted in Ghettos

lante groups molested innocent Negro residents in disorder areas.

"Newspapers, radio and television twist the facts," observed a Negro civil servant.

A similar observation is made by 86 per cent of the 160 persons interviewed by this reporter in a sampling of public opinion in the Long Beach central district.

Local coverage comes off better. Forty-eight per cent believe the press in Long Beach tends to be objective, as compared to 42 per cent who consider it to be somewhat less than impartial in reporting the news.

Indefinite responses were made by 10 per cent of those interviewed.

Central district people criticize the press most for two past Long Beach stories — the disturbance that led to Police Patrolman Richard Lefebvre's death in 1965 and the Poly High School racial incident last year.

A businessman remembered: "There was some stretching for sensationalism when the policeman was killed. The reports came out distorted."

Headlines about the Lefebvre incident were "inflammatory," a housewife thought.

Coverage of the Poly High flareup had instances of "yellow journalism," in the opinion of a clerk.

A college student said: "Overall, the 1965 incident and the Poly High trouble got objective coverage. It was just on occasions that the reporting became overly sensational."

An irresponsible press, contended the Kerner commission, is one aspect of causes that have created the race-relations dilemma in the U.S. today.

"We found a significant imbalance between what actually happened in our cities and what the newspaper, radio and television coverage of the riots told us happened," the commission reported.

Distortion might have contributed to the tensions, is the implication. Even in the aftermath, the commission observed, the media "failed to present and analyze to a sufficient extent the basic reasons for the disorders."

Unobjective riot reporting bothered the commission, but not as much as what it called the failure of the press to report adequately on race relations.

News media ought to take the lead in providing information about the races that could make for better understanding between peoples, the commission felt.

Ironically, asserted the panel, "the communications media failed to communicate."

One major conclusion: "Far too often, the press acts and talks about Negroes as if Negroes do not read the newspapers or watch television, give birth, marry, die and go to PTA meetings."

White readers get to know the Negro celebrities and the stereotypes — not those who live ordinary lives.

They remember Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as the man who led peaceful demonstrations in the streets of American cities.

Stokeley Carmichael, H. Rap Brown and comedian Dick Gregory are rabble-rousers, in the view of the majority audience.

Whites can read more news about Joe Louis, Willie Mays, Sammy Davis Jr. and Eartha Kitt than about U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall or Dr. Kenneth Clark, the eminent social scientist.

Unless the average Negro is involved in a crime or a disturbance, his endeavors stand little chance of becoming known to whites through the mass media.

Stereotyped thinking about Negroes is one result of the communication gap.

An urgent call is made by the commission for the media to establish an effective link with Negro action and ideas, to hire more Negroes and to give more coverage to Negro news.

Bemoaned was the fact big-city newspapers only recently began to hire Negro reporters in more than token numbers.

The plaint used to be, "We can't find qualified Negroes."

A suggested Urban Institute of Communications would recruit and train Negroes for reporting jobs.

Such an institute would also offer education for white journalists in urban affairs and serve as a laboratory to develop methods for improving police-press relations, review coverage of riots and racial issues and foster continuing research in the urban field.

MSGR. SCOTT NOTES 20 YEARS IN PARISH

Rt. Rev. Monsignor George M. Scott celebrates 20 years at San Pedro's Mary Star of the Sea Catholic Church today, but it isn't going to be the quiet occasion the veteran priest had asked.

On Friday, the Los Angeles City Council voted a resolution noting that Msgr. Scott had built the parish from a small church and a condemned school two decades ago into a million-dollar, church-school complex embracing a three-story convent, 14-classroom high school, church auditorium, rectory and other facilities.

The resolution called on L.A. Harbor area citizens to join in honoring the priest for his devotion to the people of San Pedro — a community where more than 50 tongues are spoken and where a good percentage of the population still converses in the language of their homeland.

Msgr. Scott had served 17 years in other California parishes before moving to San Pedro.

Parent-Teacher Workshop at Compton High

A workshop on "Crisis in Education"—bringing parents together with educators—will be held today in Compton Senior High School under sponsorship of Local 1413, American Federation of Teachers.

Morning sessions begin at 9 a.m. with small discussion groups, with group meetings in the afternoon, according to Lydia K. Levin, an AFT officer.

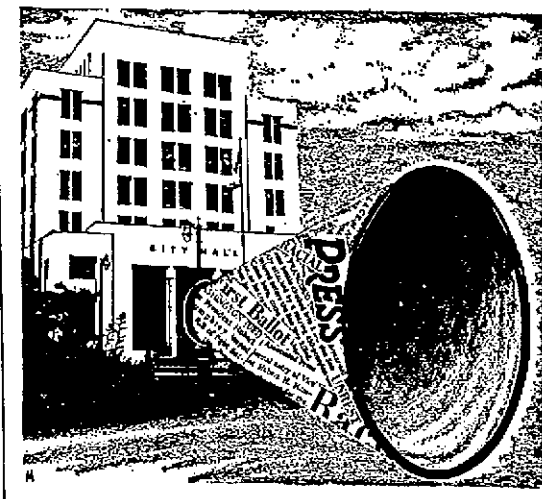

Low Freeway Bid

Guy F. Atkinson Co. of Long Beach has submitted an apparent low bid of $10.9 million to construct extensions of the Golden State and Foothill freeways, according to the State Division of Highways.

$26,995; L.B. Community Welfare Council, $27,642; Paramount Junior Athletic Association, $3,196 and Psychiatric Clinic for Children, $29,029.

Additional agency fundings included: Travelers Aid Society of L.B.; 38,796; Visiting Nurse Service of L.B., $12,209; Volunteers of America, $15,151; YMCA, $11,855; YWCA, $67,239; and Youth Foundation of Bellflower, $3,050.

Allocation of funds for the Long Beach area were arrived at by volunteer budget committees, the United Crusade office said.

Ministers Give Attentive Ear to Negro Spokesmen in Growing Series of Talks

By LES RODNEY

"Testing whether this nation or any other nation, so conceived and so dedicated can long endure," went the litany.

"This deepening racial division is not inevitable," was the response. "The movement apart can be reversed. Choice is still possible. The alternative is not blind repression or capitulation to lawlessness. It is the realization of common opportunities for all within a single society."

"Abide with us, Lord Jesus," said 200 Lutheran ministers with bowed heads.

This moment Tuesday afternoon in a small downtown Los Angeles church was symbolic of something that is happening throughout the Christian church these days. It came at the conclusion of a day-long session in which pastors of the three major Lutheran synods — including a strong representation from the Long Beach area — listened to Negro spokesmen, asked questions, and chewed over what they had heard and how it could most practically be brought back to their people.

Last Saturday in Long Beach's Covenant Presbyterian Church, some 800 Southland ministers and lay Christians education leaders of eight denominations heard Dr. Charles Spivey, Negro churchman who is executive director of the National Council of Churches department of social justice, "tell it like it is," and worked out agendas for educational seminars in their own congregations.

AT BOTH these sessions paperback copies of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders (the Kerner report) were snapped up. It was this best seller that stimulated much of the newfangled Christian educational dialogue with black spokesmen. Undoubtedly, the assassination of Martin Luther King, a Baptist minister who preached non violence, helped "open things up."

Object of these sessions is to make the American church of greater service in dealing with conditions and attitudes that may lead to trouble for the country. Some of the ministers do not always like what they hear, and sometimes with reason. Caliber and wisdom of what they are told may vary with the speaker, exactly as their own caliber and receptivity may vary with the individual. And then, the very nature of what this is about makes it often abrasive.

Said a local Lutheran pastor during a break in the Tuesday program: "I'm not too happy with the tone of what I've heard so far. Nobody is going to make ME feel guilty, because I'm not." (This, however, was not a majority reaction.)

One of the Negro speakers, Jesse Scott, field director for the NAACP, addressed himself to this very thing.

"You've heard charges here of white racism," he said. "The Kerner report lays that on the line as the main cause of the problem. 'Golly, I'm not racist!' you may say to yourself. Well, the report is not talking about YOU, it's talking about the system of which you are a part. The very fact that you're here today tells me that you are concerned about things."

As an example of "subtle, pervasive" racism which the listeners found interesting, Scott showed a picture and newspaper clipping on the engagement of the daughter of Sen. Brooks of Massachusetts, a Negro, to a white youth. The national wire service story featured a query to the boy's parents as to how they felt about it.

"Here is the daughter of a man who sits in the United States Senate," commented Scott, "a man who ran the finances of the state of Massachusetts for years before that. His girl is marrying the son of an engineer, not a top engineer, just an engineer. So the reporters rush to the family of the boy to ask if the marriage is OK with them — not to the family of the girl to ask if it's OK with THEM!"

Speaking of reverence for the law, Scott continued: "The greatest of all laws is 'You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your mind ... and, You shall love your neighbor as yourself. If we have been preaching these laws all these years someone hasn't been listening.' This brought an appreciative chuckle.

A VETERAN Los Angeles Negro cleric, Dr. D. DeWitt Turpeau Jr., suggested that the Negro today demands full acceptance, not "tolerance."

He said he has often been asked by whites: "What does the Negro want?"

"I answer, what do YOU want? If you know what you want, you know what we want. The Negro wants full recognition as a man who can stand tall, and he is ready to accept all the obligations that go with being a full and equal part of things. He is your brother. You are his brother."

He challenged his listeners, "as Lutherans, to see that the Negro has equal work opportunities. In the churches as anywhere ... I should think the churches would want to, not as window dressing, but for the work of God, who made us all. I'm not just thinking of janitors, but of secretaries, education leaders ..."

Another Negro, Dallas Martin, project director for the Urban League, and a Lutheran layman for 30 years pointed to the potential role of the church as one of the major American institutions where opinions are formed, and shook things up a bit by saying: "Our pastors have often been evading this question of prejudice and discrimination, and sticking to things 'spiritual' for the sake of a false peace. Yet Jesus' mandate is clear, to be transformed, not to conform. You must tell the white parishes that racism is a sin, that it violates the First Commandment, that it can even destroy our country. You can help with the problem — or you can be the problem."

The assembled pastors gave a careful hearing to the speakers, and many could be seen jotting down voluminous notes. It was clear from their comments and own inner discussion in smaller groups that for most of them, the race question was not something brand new, that it has been with them for some time, though not necessarily with this new sense of urgency. Many did admit that they had never heard the question face to face from the Negro point of view before, and by their generous applause they showed, in their majority, that they appreciated and were quite able to "take" frank talk, in a Christian context.

WHICH IS not to say that these mature and strong-minded men of God did not have questions and exceptions. Sharpest difference came with the one white speaker, Curt Moody of the Community Relations Conference. One of his emotional characterizations was challenged by a Long Beach pastor as anti-American, and the offending phrase was considerably modified in the give and take that followed. One speaker who had pencils flying was Los Angeles Councilman Thomas Bradley whose low keyed presentation of the city's official response to date to the Kerner report pointed to some practical starting points in particular communities, including the important subject of police relations with the ghetto areas. Not that Bradley, a Negro, is satisfied with the pace of response, he made clear, but inadequate beginnings were still beginnings, to be nourished and expanded upon, not jeered away as "not enough." This is an approach which ministers, of all people, are perhaps best able to appreciate.

In one of the small discussion groups of pastors it was agreed that "education" of the congregation is a key responsibility of the church. The talk was candid.

One pastor said: "Sometimes you can feel quite alone when you introduce some of these unpleasant facts. This is the dilemma — the gap between where some of your people actually are on this subject, and where you know they ought to be, what they ought to feel ... Frankly, I am frustrated."

Responded another: "There must be a firm, though understanding, position based on Christian law. Now if you stand pat on that, they all really know the law deep down, and while some may disagree they will respect your position and really expect nothing less from you. The few people you may actually lose you shouldn't worry about."

"You won't be able to cure everyone of prejudice, and shouldn't expect to," the veteran minister continued quietly. "It is rooted in the emotions and thus is often irrational. But don't let the Holy Spirit short. I've been at this subject for three years, and let me tell you I was getting discouraged too. And suddenly, after three years, I realize that it has been finally getting through to people ... Everything takes time, but if we are rooted in Christianity, we mustn't hold back ..."

THE CHRISTIAN mood and context of these pastors, seeking to find their proper role in the nation's most crucial issue, is not always understood by others. These are not just civil rights people. One need only have stood with them as they rocked the small hall with their meaningful singing of "In Christ There Is No East or West" ("what'er your race may be"), or heard the host pastor, Rev. Paul Nakamura, open with "We are first of all Christians ..." and felt the response to that by his fellow Lutherans, "This is not an adventure in picking wild-

8-WEEK STUDY OF CRISIS IN L.B. CHURCH

Starting Sunday at 8 p.m., Grace Methodist Church at Third and Junipero opens a series of eight Sunday night panel discussions on "A Crisis in Our Nation," using the Kerner report as a text. Special guests will be invited to exchange views on the racial situation. This Sunday's panel includes Grace members who have studied the situation in Long Beach. Rev. Stan Brown invites other churches.

flowers in the woods," he said. "It is an adventure in faith. We can be opposed by many, sometimes within our own congregations, but ours is not to fear, for we have the Lord always with us for righteousness."

Far from being "social activists" divorced from the gospel these Lutheran pastors and those of other denominations seeking as best they can to place the church where it belongs on the question of brotherhood and God-given rights, base themselves squarely on the words from the first Epistle of John:

"If a man says 'I Love God,' and hates his brother, he is a liar; for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen ..."

"If anyone has the world's good, and sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love dwell in him?"

UP, UP ...

Merging the strikingly contemporary with the traditional, old First Christian Church's new message board at Fifth and Locust is a downtown conversation piece, soaring almost the height of the historic church. Reaction? Almost all positive.

CONFIDENT LIVING

Anybody's Life Can Be Improved

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

It is amazing how some people's lives improve and all because they realize a dynamic fact. The realization that works such wonders is that every human being has greater possibilities and potentials which have not yet been brought into action. Every person has it in him to become a more successful, happier individual.

One Sunday evening a frustrated fellow was driving glumly from one New Jersey town to another on delivery pickups. His truck was not one of those mammoth highpowered vehicles that go zooming along superhighways. It was ratty, rickety and beat up.

"This was not the kind of job he wanted anyway. But he did have a goal. He knew what he wanted to do. He had an ambition to be a social worker helping underprivileged people. But he was lacking in the required education to qualify. So here he was driving this truck. The pay was barely enough to live on and he could not seem to save anything. So he wasn't getting anywhere. 'I'm a washout,' he thought bitterly. 'A huge flop.'"

DILAPIDATED as it was, the truck did have a radio and he chanced to pick up a Sunday evening inspirational talk. "Have you a goal?" the voice was saying. "Some definite thing you want to achieve? Then with God's help you can do it—if you believe you can! Believe in life. Believe in yourself. Believe in the potentials you possess."

The man was not convinced. But anyway he took to listening to that radio program each Sunday. And finally one night he decided to go with a positive attitude. "I am going to be a social worker. I believe I have it in me to reach that goal."

Once having made this decision things began to happen. He began to think creatively and take more initiative. He soon found a job where he could earn a living at daytime truck driving and have his evening free. So he started going to high school. It was a strenuous combination. But he kept at it. He discovered aptitudes he didn't know he had and did increasingly well at his studies.

He wrote me a letter telling of these experiences. It ended with this postscript: "I've got a motto. My motto is, 'I'll never quit. I will believe. I can do it.' Not long ago I heard from him again.

He is now an accredited social worker. "Now," he writes, "I have the happiness of helping people who have let things get them down like I once did. I am so thankful. My motto is still the same: 'I'll never quit. I will believe. I can do it.'"

Now if some people's lives get so wonderfully changed because they started the process of believing in themselves, the same can happen to anybody. Actually there is no need for anyone to go through life frustrated and beaten.

I read somewhere about a man plagued with fears, weaknesses and resentments, who got to thinking one day that the average person lives about half a million hours in his lifetime. And it occurred to him that it might be worth investing 24 hours of a half-million in an all-out try to live for one day in every respect according to positive living principles, a day in which there would be no negative attitude, not even a negative expression. This idea took hold of him and he decided to give it a try. He chose a day and resolved he would start that morning and live that way for 24 hours.

IT TOOK plenty of self-discipline. He had a lot of battles with old habits, some rough moments fighting off fatigue and "Oh, what's it all about." But he stuck it out. When the 24 hours were up he felt joyousness, a sense of release he had never known before. He felt free of anxiety and was full of new vitality and good will. Indeed he felt so good that he decided to continue living on this basis permanently. But about the fourth day the downward pull of long-established personality patterns became too much for him. He took a nose dive and plummeted back to his old unhappy ways.

But now he was more miserable than before, for he has had a taste of what life can really be like at higher levels. And he knew he had the potentials for top-drawer living. So he started climbing back up. And while he frequently slips and stumbles, there has been dramatic improvement in his emotional condition, his job and in personal relationships.

Never forget it — you have real potential and you can activate it. Anybody's life can be improved.

Ex-Viet Official to Discuss Peace

An American just back from five years in South Vietnam, where he conversed in fluent Vietnamese with thousands of people as deputy director of the International Voluntary Services, will speak on "November, 1968 and Prospects for Peace" Sunday, 7:30 p.m. in Bay Shore Community Church, 5100 The Toledo.

Interviewed this week, Eugene Stoltz, an Ohioan, said he would try to move beyond the traditional dove and hawk positions to give insights through the eyes of the Vietnamese people themselves, and offer possible alternatives for the American people in the period ahead.

He resigned his post, he explained, "because of a cumulative disillusionment with the conduct of the war. The thing that pushed me over was the increasing number of Vietnamese of all classes who feel it is wrong," he said.

IVS is a non-profit voluntary organization which works under contract with the State Department in agriculture, education and refugee assistance.

Commenting on the new turn of events brought on by the President's bombing cutback and peace efforts, the former official said: "People should be careful not to assume that the war is over, or even a lot closer to being over. Two basic issues remain to be resolved before there can be peace. The future role of the National Liberation Force as a legitimate section of the population must be worked out. And the American presence must be ended, sometimes, not in an immediate dramatic sense, and not every last man, but it has to be understood that we will leave."

He said "good morality would also be good politics. The use of our tremendous firepower in South Vietnam serves to alienate more and more people. It thus defeats our aims."

He is "very guardedly optimistic about prospects for peace," he added. "The word is slowly getting through to the administration that this war is unwinnable."

He said he will describe his experiences as team leader throughout the South Vietnamese countryside and provide background material at the public meeting.

IN LONG BEACH

Andrae Crouch, minister of music for the famed Teen Challenge Addicts Choir, composed of former drug addicts and delinquents, will lead the 30-voice group of young men and women Sunday, 7 p.m., in Calvary Temple, 3749 E. Wilton St., with the public invited by Pastor L. L. Shipley. Earlier Sunday they will also appear at Mother Gore's Mission of Christ Second Baptist Church, 1471 California Ave., in a program starting at 2:30 p.m.

Rev. Carl Folk

1st Welcomes

Rev. Carl M. Folk has accepted an invitation to become assistant pastor at First Baptist Church. His primary responsibility will be in the area of visitation, calling in particular upon prospective members and Sunday service visitors.

FROM THE PULPIT

Much is being said today about the church and its ability to "relate to our times." Much thought has been given to new ways and methods in which the church can relate to present needs.

In reality, the church is the only informed organization on earth that can relate to today, and it is only able to do this as it remains a Bible preaching and teaching church. No man can understand our perils today without a Bible knowledge.

The Bible speaks specifically of this day as the closing day of the church age. It speaks of modernism (a falling away from the faith), of false cults, of compromise of religious leaders, of Christ rejecting governments, of wars and rumors of wars, and of "the beginning of sorrows."

Christ speaks of Bible scholars as the ones who "are not of darkness that that day should overtake us unawares."

These are not days for the church to engage in anything but a searching and teaching of the Bible. More of this will produce a better community, a better understanding, real Christian believers and a real peace of mind in a troubled world.

If you believe what the Bible teaches, attend a church that teaches the Bible.

If you do not have a Bible teaching church near you, try Calvary! There is no substitute for Scriptural knowledge.

'Tongues' Controversy, Mice, and Viet Surprise

With the issue of the Confession of 1967 all settled, a new question which promises debate will be brought up in the 190th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church May 16-22 in Minneapolis. It is the rising discussion of glossolalia — speaking in tongues.

The presbyteries (regional units) of Phoenix, Cimarron, Okla. and Ebenezer, Ky., have asked the assembly to take action. The Phoenix request, most comprehensive of the three, asks for an authoritative statement "on the place in belief, practice and discipline" of the church of "special" baptism of the Holy Spirit, speaking in tongues and the exorcism of evil spirits."

A related overture from Phoenix asks for a ruling on whether a minister has the right to introduce such beliefs and practices in a congregation, and whether a presbytery has authority to stop him. Obviously enough, the Phoenix presbytery has a specific church or churches in mind. So, hold onto your seats.

Formerly pretty much the exclusive property of Pentacostals, the practice of praying, singing or speaking in fluent accents whose meaning is not known to the speaker has had a certain growth among other Protestants. A local minister, Rev. Lawrence Christenson, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of San Pedro, recently authored a book on the phenomenon in which he said "The gift of speaking in tongues and the other gifts of the spirit are the means which HE has given to express Christ's love in an effective and concrete way."

Others have considered it nonsense which demeans the mission of the church. And there are quite likely to be those among the Presbyterian delegates who don't care for it themselves, but would balk at taking away the right of congregation to include it as one form of worship expression.

Discussion away!

THIS COLUMN was wrong on its little prediction that the United Methodist Church would vote down the proposed elimination tion of the mandatory no-drinking oath for ministers and leaders. A little-noticed vote the very next day in Dallas however, overwhelmingly nixed a move to allow the congregations to use real wine instead of grape juice in celebrating the Lord's Supper. This vote probably reflected the desire of those who voted for ending compulsory abstinence to make clear that they were not voting in FAVOR OF the stuff.

MANY CONVERSIONS have been registered at the "open house" evangelistic campaigns held simultaneously this week in 820 Southern Baptist churches in the state, advises Dr. K. Owen White, missions coordinator. The special meetings, featuring visiting evangelist-pastors from Texas, run through tonight and Sunday night in all local churches of the denomination.

GOODWILL SUNDAY will be observed in 190 churches of the Long Beach South Bay-Harbor area this Sunday. Goodwill, which has provided employment and training to more handicapped people than all other agencies in America, began in a little church and has always operated as a non-sectarian arm of the church. The biweekly chapel meetings are voluntary, with local pastors all taking turns. And churches of the area provide usable clothing for reworking and sale, with a special salute here to Leisure World Community Church for its exceptional volume of material, but hearty appreciation for all the others, regardless of amount.

NOW WHERE DOES someone who is strongly against both smoking and the use of animals in experiments, stand on this one? The Hong Kong Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is fixing to take a Seventh-day Adventist youth group to court for killing mice with nicotine in public demonstrations to discourage youngsters from smoking. They charge the injections are cruel, causing "stimulation, tremors, sickness and coma before death." An undated official of the church youth society responded "We will continue the demonstrations, believing that they are in the best interests of saving human life."

Is this merely a Mickey Mouse controversy?

TO THE SURPRISE of some, Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, first leader of the World Council of Churches, warned American delegates to the upcoming fourth assembly in Sweden against being too negative about their country's policy in Vietnam. (The World Council is on record against American policy.)

In a briefing session the Dutch churchman said: "It is not good for the ecumenical situation that the participants from any country should use an international meeting to carry on systematic propaganda against their own country. It doesn't help them arrive at a real understanding of the situation and it doesn't help reconciliation."

Explaining that many Europeans, including himself, were deeply distressed by America's role in Vietnam, the veteran Dutch churchman added: "Yes, I hope you might speak against the policies of your government. But you are not doing your job if, at the same time, you are not trying to make other people understand why your government follows these policies and what some of their strong points are."

"You want to work for peace," he continued. "Peace means that very soon the North and South Vietnamese, the Americans and the other parties involved will sit down at the table and weigh the viewpoints of each."

"If the rest of the world gets the idea that there is no viewpoint that can be weighed from the United States, you have not really worked for peace."

"You have to work on a very narrow ridge," he concluded. "It is not self-affirmation, but neither is it self-abasement that you must strive for; not superiority but neither is it inferiority. It is that tension we must accept in the ecumenical movement." — L.R.

YOUNG STAR'S GIFTS FOR FESTIVAL

Bobby Riha, TV and motion picture star from Long Beach, gives Mrs. Emma Gaughn of Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church two record albums in which he starred. Albums will be used at the spring festival today and Sunday, 1 to 7 p.m. at the church, 14142 Olive St., Westminster. There will be entertainment, game booths, a puppet show, kiddie rides and food booths.

Service Y Scene of Drama With Music and 'Feedback'

"Exodus and Easter," a modern drama with music, will be presented next Friday at the Armed Services YMCA by the noted Fire-side Players of West Covina's Community Presbyterian Church.

The play is sponsored in its appearance here by Long Beach's St. John's Community Presbyterian Church, whose pastor, Rev. Ralph Michels, came here from the West Covina church. He describes it as a hard-hitting play very much about today, suburbia, civil rights and other topical themes.

It will follow an optional 6:30 supper at the Y, 520 W. Seaside Blvd., and will in turn be followed by a "feedback" discussion session with the audience on the plays meaning, a "final act."

Rev. Michels came to the Ximena Avenue church almost two years ago. Before his West Covina ministry he spent four years in the Navy, including the Korean War. He has instituted a popular discussion period following the worship hour at St. John's, which, as one churchwoman leader put it, closes the gap between congregation and pulpit and takes sermons out of the abstract. The youth of the church collaborate with the youth of two other Presbyterian churches in young people's programs.

Modern Crichton Would Be Better

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

The Lakers-Celtics championship basketball game was pretty well settled early in the proceedings, so it wasn't too difficult to concentrate most of my attention on "The Admirable Crichton" on Ch. 4, while keeping an ear cocked to Chick Baby on KNX radio.

I didn't find the exercise too confusing but rather enjoyed the melding. The play dealt with class privilege and where leadership should reside by right instead of tradition. Basketball, and other sports, has become a sort of whipping boy for Negro racists who point to black supremacy in athletics and draw some peculiar conclusions from it about "leadership."

LEROI JONES, the Negro racist, the other day in a talk at California State College at Long Beach, for example, was reported as commenting: "White men own basketball teams, but they don't know how to play basketball."

Basically, Jones, whether he is aware of it or not, is essentially espousing a not particularly fresh mixture of Marxism and racism which come out smelling like a black Nazism. However, I am interested here only in noting that Jones obviously knows very little about basketball.

Jones' view, for instance, is not shared by Negro athletes in the game, like Bill Russell, the player-coach of the Boston Celtics. He knows it pays off in baskets to to players like John Havlicek (40 points), Bailey Howell (30 points), Larry Siegfried (22 points) for a total of 92 of the Celtics' 109-point championship win. These three hap-

A Great Race —Angels KO Detroit, 6-5

By ROSS NEWMAN Staff Writer

DETROIT — The Angels took it away from the Tigers on the final day of the Great Race. What became an impossible dream in Boston was a nightmare in Detroit.

Time has healed most of the wounds and the Tigers are alive and kicking, acting as if they'll again be around in October.

The manager has recovered remarkably. There was a twinkle in Mayo

ANGEL OF DAY BOBBY KNOOP doubled, singled, scored twice and drove in run as Angels edged Detroit, 6-5.

Smith's eyes as he chattered at the batting cage in the twilight of Friday evening.

"That Rigney is something else," growled Smith. "He calls me this afternoon and he says, 'I was just looking at the standings and I couldn't help but wonder how you got so smart over the winter.'"

"So I say to Mr. Rigney, 'I learned it all from you on the final day.'"

What followed Friday was familiar. The Angels transported Smith and the Tigers back to Oct. 1 and stubbornly emerged with a 6-5 victory.

This one also knocked Detroit out of first place, and it was done in a way so that you recalled Rigney's words as he spoke in an emotionally drained clubhouse following that final day of 1967.

"This team," said Rigney, referring to the Angels, "now knows what it takes to win the pennant. It now knows what it takes to win, period."

The perseverance was there Friday night and it has been displayed consistently as the Angels have won four of five games on this trip.

Only one of the Angels' nine hits did not contribute to a run, and only one of those hits was for extra bases.

What proved to be the winning run was scored in the eighth when Bobby Knoop doubled and Paul Schaal singled. Schaal had also driven home the fifth run when his sacrifice fly with the bases loaded capped a three-run rally in the sixth.

The Angels led 2-0, 5-3 and 6-4, as the Tigers clawed back. Willie Horton, whose injured heel was Detroit's achilles tendon last year, hit a two-run homer in the fourth and a solo homer in the seventh.

As they did in the final inning of the Great Race's final game, the Tigers put the winning runs on base in the ninth.

Al Kaline, who had three hits, singled and so did Horton. There were no outs when Minnie Rojas, pitching since the sixth, handed the ball to Sammy Ellis, the starter just 24 hours earlier.

Now it was Smith's decision. He asked his leading hitter, Bill Freehan, who had already tripled and singled, to sacrifice. He did and the tying and winning runs were in scoring position.

Ellis, however, got Don Wert on an infield pop for the critical second out, lefty Jim Northrup was intentionally walked and pinch-hitter Jim Price flied out for Ellis' first American League save.

"Listen," said Ellis, "I don't mind doing both — I mean starting and relieving. I think it keeps me sharp — the year I won 22 I did a lot of relieving."

Ellis has regained the fast ball which Rojas is still looking for. Minnie fought off the Tigers as best he could, throwing change-ups and working the corners.

He gave up two runs, including Horton's second homer, and was effective enough that what Ellis saved was a win for Jack Hamilton (3-1), who relieved Clyde Wright of a three-run crisis in the fourth.

ANGEL ANGLES: Promoted by this newspaper's account of the Angels interest in Leon Wagner, general manager Fred Haney denied his statements of Thursday and told other members of the press corps that he is cooking up a deal to trade for Cleveland's Gabe Paul and convince this reporter to replace his typewriter with a poligraph.

Earl Wilson (2-3) faces Jim McGlothin (1-2) in afternoon. Rick Reichardt was again out with a cramped muscle behind his right knee.

Buck Rodgers who has been hitting the ball firmly despite a .226 average, had two hits and was deprived of extra bases in the fourth inning when center-fielder Jim Northrup made a sensational diving catch of a sinking liner.

Floort Weaver, recalled Sunday when Aurelio Rodriguez was optioned to Seattle, was out Friday.

By GEORGE LEDERER Don Sutton was the winning pitcher, Jim Brewer turned in another remarkable relief job, Ron Fairly scored twice and had two hits, and Tom Haller singled twice. nati Friday night came via the bench and, what's more, from a player who didn't get into the game.

Len Gabrielson, a holler guy from away back, alerted third baseman Bob Bailey of a pre-catch tag by Alex Johnson and prevented the Reds from scoring the tying run in the eighth inning.

Johnson led off the inning with an infield hit and

DODGER OF DAY

JIM BREWER allowed only an infield hit in 2 2-3 innings of relief to protect a 4-3 Dodger victory over Reds moved to third, with none out, on Brewer's pickoff throwing error. Vada Pinson flied out to Ron Fairly in shallow right field and Johnson made it easily across the plate with the aid of a poor throw by Fairly. The next thing seen by the near-capacity crowd of 51,659 was the upward sweep of third base umpire Tom Gorman's right arm, a run erased from the scoreboard and a rare double play.

Johnson had left third base too soon, Haller threw to Bailey and the Dodgers won their appeal.

"I haven't seen that play in at least five years," said a happy Walter Alston, savoring the altitude of third place, three games from the top.

Gabrielson said he "just happened to look. I saw Johnson leaving before the catch, so I yelled at Bailey. Yes," he added, "I'm quite pleased."

Bailey said he also would have appealed.

Reds manager Dave Bristol went one better and appealed the appeal. He didn't argue that Johnson left too soon, but was not convinced that Bailey had tagged third base.

Umpire Gorman went so far as to caution Bailey. "Next time," Gorman told Bailey, "it would be nice if you gave me a little better tag." Bailey said he "just swiped at the bag with my

'CAN'T WIN 500 EXCEPT BY FLUKE'

Underpowered Parnelli Quits

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Indianapolis "500" auto race lost one of its favorites Friday when former champion Parnelli Jones declared himself out of this year's contest, convinced his turbine car cannot win except by a fluke.

Nicklaus Power Play

Nets Tie With Sikes

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus and Dan Sikes, driving long and chipping close, tied for the second round lead in the $100,000 Champions International Golf Tournament Friday with eight-under par 134s.

Nicklaus, who smashed one drive 350 yards, had a two-under 69 to go with his opening 65. Sikes, who started one stroke behind Nicklaus, had a three-under 68 to catch up.

Miller Barber and Roberto De Vincenzo were tied for third with 67-68-135s. Steve Opperman, a veterinarian from San Francisco, had the day's best round, a four-under par 67, to move up to fifth at 136. Harold Henning was next with a 70 67-137.

Nicklaus, putting together his two best rounds of the season, had four birdies and two bogies. His big drive came on the 448-yard 10th hole.

He pitched the remaining 98 yards and sank a 10-foot putt for his third birdie. He also sank a 10-foot birdie putt on No. 9. His other birdies were an 18-footer on No. 15 and two-putting from 35-feet on the par 5 fifth hole.

His bogies came on 12, when he drove in a bunker, and on 18, when he three-putted from 40 feet. Sikes and Barber also bogied the 18th as they tried to overtake Nicklaus, who was already in the clubhouse.

Sikes' bogey came after he buried his tee shot in a bunker and had trouble coming out. Then he missed a four-foot putt after hitting a good six iron onto the green. It was his only bogey.

"I was driving real well," Sikes said. "I really hit some good ones out there."

Sikes said he hoped to win enough money on the summer tour to sit out the winter golf tournaments. He did it last year, he said, and is in a position to repeat.

"If I win enough money, I'll just stay home and watch football," he said.

Barber consistently chipped to less than three feet from the cup to make birdies. His chip on the first hole was from 145 yards out and it was, from 170 yards on 17. On the ninth, Barber chipped from 100 feet out to less than 24 inches from the pin. He dropped an eight-footer on the second hole for his other birdie.

"This new turbine, which is only two-thirds the size of last year's engine, will be so over-stressed it may not last the race — or even the four laps of qualifying, if we try to get competitive horsepower out of it."

HANNUM ACCEPTS OAKLAND POST

Pro Basketball Player Raids?

Combined News Services A few days ago Bill Sharman resigned as coach of San Francisco of the National Basketball Assn., and accepted a similar post with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Assn.

Friday Alex Hannum quit the Philadelphia 76ers of the NBA, and accepted the coaching job with Oakland of the ABA.

Will the coach switch mean a giant player switch?

"I think there would be trouble if we tried wholesale recruiting of NBA players," said Hannum, "but if someone wants to improve his lot by coming to the ABA, we'll be glad to talk with him."

Other ABA officials said they expected many player switches.

Franklin Mieuli of San Francisco had offered Hannum a lucrative short-term deal, but Hannum turned him down. The San Francisco job will go to assistant coach George Lee if he wants it.

Hannum said that he signed an eight-year contract with Oakland. He is receiving "about the same pay" as in Philadelphia last season, plus 10 per cent of the stock of the Oaks.

Oakland coach-general manager Bruce Hale will continue his administrative duties.

13 TRY TO CATCH FORWARD PASS IN DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fourteen of America's finest 3-year-old colts, with Calumet Farm's Forward Pass probable favorite, start in today's 94th running of the Kentucky Derby.

The Churchill Downs handicapper figured Forward Pass, winner of the Florida Derby and Blue Grass Stakes, would be 8-5 by the 1:38 p.m., Pacific Daylight Time, start of the 1 1/4-mile classic.

Trainer Lou Cavalaris and his veterinarian, Dr. Alex Harthill, pronounced Dancer's Image fit after an early morning blowout of three-eighths of a mile in 37 seconds.

Dancer's Image is plagued with ankle trouble, but Cavalaris said the son of Native Dancer returned from the work in good shape.

The colt stands in a bucket of ice water two hours a day.

Dancer's Image will start from the No. 12 slot while Forward Pass comes out of No. 13, a spot that may cut into his odds.

Only Gleaming Sword, a 30-1 choice, starts from a position outside of Forward Pass.

Forward Pass was installed as a 2-1 favorite Friday in preliminary betting.

Second choice in the early betting was Dancer's Image at 7-2 while Iron Ruler was third at 5-1.

The biggest drop from the morning line figured by Churchill Downs' track handicapper was the mutual field, made up of Kentucky Sherry, Trouble Brewing and Te Vega. The handicapper had it 20-1, but the fans made it 9-1.

Other odds in the early betting included T.V. Commercial, 20-1; Jig Time, 25-1; Don B, 45-1; Verbatim, 30-1; Captain's Gig, 8-1; Francis's Hat, 21-1; Proper Proof, 9-1; and Gleaming Sword, 25-1.

KISSIN' GEORGE, MARKET TOP CHOICES

Bulging Field of 16 Splits 'Cap

By ERNIE MASON

The 16th running of Hollywood Park's $50,000-added Los Angeles Handicap was split into two seven-furlong co-features Friday after 16 sprinters were entered.

Each co-feature today will still be a $50,000-added race. The races, the seventh and eighth on the program, will each be worth $54,550 apiece to the winners.

Kissin' George, the speedy chestnut who was top weighted at 128 pounds, was favored in the second half of the Los Angeles.

Rising Market, second on handicap's list of weights at 117, was the probable favorite in the first half of the sprint test.

Kissin' George, the 5-year-old son of Siamruler, captured the sixth stakes victory of his career with a speedy 1:08 3/5 showing in the $27,850 Premier Handicap on the meeting's opening day. Last year, he was named sprinter of the Hollypark's summer meeting.

Bill Mahoney, who has piloted Kissin' George in all but one of his races, will be aboard the chestnut again.

Kissin' George's trainer, Buster Millerick, has two other entrants in the second half of the Los Angeles, Bold Tactics with jockey Jerry Lambert, and Gregies with Danny Velasquez in the saddle.

It will be Bold Tactics' first start of the meeting. He was one of the top sprinters in the midwest last year.

The other entrants in the second half of the handicap were Dr. Roy E. Our Michael, Gentleman's Game, Dizzy Babe and Son Jack.

In the first half of the Los Angeles, Rising Market was designated the probable favorite on the basis of his excellent sprint record. He has never finished worse than third in 15 races, catching Kissin' George in the Premier and finishing a strong runnerup to Damascus in the Malibu Stakes at Santa Anita, another seven-furlong test.

Laffit Pincay will pilot Rising Market.

Chiclero, a recent winner in the Morningside Stakes, was expected to be a strong challenger as the 6-year-old goes after his fourth Hollywood Park-added money win. Jerry Lambert will pilot Chiclero, also trained by Millerick.

Another Millerick entrant in the first half of the handicap was Lucky Bush, also considered a solid threat.

USC on Right Track Today—Not UCLA

By JOHN DIXON

USC's track team is so talented it could give Russia a beating, but today it will settle—gladly—for UCLA.

Drubbed by the battling Bruins in 1967, and 1966, the Trojans should outscore the Westwood black and blues by more than 2-1 in their Coliseum crosstown crucial.

"Our team is hungry," described USC coach Vern Wolfe. "We are healthy, and we want some of our boys to 'peak out.'"

"Our heads will be high," UCLA boss Jim Bush said. "We hope to put together some seasonal bests, even if we can't win."

UCLA appears to have a victory chance in only three events.

Steve Marcus (63-3/4) will be a heavy favorite in the shotput, while Len Van Hofwegen (47.0) holds a slim edge in the 440, and Doug Ford (50-7/4) rates even in the triple jump.

Fresh events commence at 1:15 p.m. First running event is 2 p.m.

Cal State Long Beach ranks only third in a triangular meet with Fresno and Cal State L.A. at Fresno, 7 o'clock, but it's so close that with a favorable break the 49ers could finish on top.

Clubmen and collegians from throughout the Southland will compete in the Orange Invitational at Chapman College, 7 p.m.
